From These Roots...

Nearly 2000 Students Study at M.H.S. in 1962-1963

To Rose
 I never forget
 you and I back at M.H.S. and everything else.
 I am Jo
 Pats
 Vernon

"From these roots" come nearly 2,000 students to M.H.S. in 1962-63. And what are these roots beyond the typical outline of a busy industrial city of 60,000 people living in the shadow of Boston, "The Hub of New England?" They reach far back to those days in the early 1600's when a sturdy little band from Salem followed the narrow path through the forest, now known as Salem Street, to establish Mystic side with its meeting house high on the hill where the huge bell attached to the rock could be rung to call them all together for emergencies or worship.

Some of the residents have ancestors who fought in the revolutionary, civil, and world wars, but most of them came here during the great immigrations in the early 1900's. From Adoniram Judson to Rabbi Charles Weinberg in religion, from Elisha Converse to Chester Lawson in industry, from Charles Daniels to Thornton Jenkins in education, from Alvin Fuller to John Volpe in government, from Rev. Michael Wigglesworth to Henry Morton Robinson in literature, and countless others have influenced and brought fame to Malden. From all these roots we students, representing almost every nationality, race, and religion, come to Malden High School from seven distinct sections of the city.

In the next few pages we shall consider our academic, social, home, political, and religious roots of today and bring out their specific phases and benefits to us.

To Rose the boys who remember you and set behind you in M.H.S.
 History 3 6th period class.
 Good Luck
 (you need it)

With Sincere Gratitude,

CLASSMASTER — Attending our functions

COACH — Following your team's actions

TEACHER — Discussing school problems

When you came to us in 1950 from Boston University, where you were captain of the football team, your first duties were as a physical education instructor, and assistant football and assistant basketball coach. Three years later you assumed the position of our head basketball coach. In 1961 you gave up your gym teaching to take on two new responsibilities — those of a health teacher and Junior Class Master.

You are not only a teacher, counselor, and coach, but also a friend to all who know you. Your understanding attitude, your hardworking ways, and your conscientious manner make you dear to all of us at Malden High School.

With all your outstanding qualities, we could not help but dedicate our 1963 Maldonian to you, Mr. Arthur P. Boyle.

FATHER — Devoted to your lovely family, your wife Margaret; and your children, Kathleen; Arthur, Jr.; Michael; and David.

We Dedicate Our Book to You, Mr. Boyle

Near Boston,

The academic roots of M.H.S. are planted deep in the fertile soil of Malden. Since 1857, when Malden High School was founded, the art of learning has flourished. Malden has an ideal location for study. We are right next to Boston, the seat of learning and the "hub" of the arts and the theatre. We may also boast of book stores, numerous historical sites, two fine libraries, an excellent climate for study, and the city itself carries an atmosphere well suited to the down-to-earth scholar. More and more of our citizens are spending leisure time advancing their education. In Malden alone, they may attend evening classes at the high school or one of the many Robinson Lectures held in the Jenkins Auditorium. So too, do a number of students take part in informal discussion groups and classes held periodically in their homes. Encouraged by our teachers, and by the example set by our parents and predecessors, we of Malden High School have a solemn duty to carry on the high standards which have been set before us.

THE MALDEN PUBLIC LIBRARY, and especially the reference room, is the ever-busy-place where we have an opportunity to broaden our knowledge.

FILLING OUT PROGRAM CARDS and numerous blanks and records is the task of every student. Each year we must complete dozens of questionnaires for the school officials

Malden Has an Ideal Location for Study

THIS NOVEMBER, MALDEN HIGH SCHOOL played host to hundreds of parents at the first annual Parents' Night. At this event, the parents of the students relived former school days by following the schedule of their children.

"Gusta" arrived in this country on July 31, 1962 from Reykjavik, Iceland, and will remain here until this July. In August she came to Malden to live with Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cary from Centre Methodist Church, whose youth groups sponsored her. Although at first the language barrier was difficult, "Gusta" overcame it and has found this year most profitable and interesting.

Our Social Roots

THE VICTORY DANCE and other class activities during the year, such as the senior play, junior varieties, and the sophomore dance, entertain us and supply outlets for our exuberance

ALL ATHLETIC EVENTS, from football to tennis, offer an excellent program of exercise, team-work, and good sportsmanship to all students who maintain good to average scholastic grades.

At school, our social roots affect our lives. Sports and dances give us an outlet for our emotions. Our clubs and musical organizations not only give us an opportunity to serve the school and community but also enable us to experience the satisfaction of perseverance, discipline, and teamwork. Through our many school publications, we students may take an active part in displaying our literary talent and in practicing the right of freedom of the press by voicing opinions on current issues — local, national, and international. What would we do without the lunch period? These precious few minutes are spent doing homework, visiting, gossiping, and above all eating with our friends. Yes, our social roots are an important and integral part of our lives at M.H.S.

Right: THE BAND, ORCHESTRA, AND VOCAL SOCIETIES OF M.H.S. help to entertain us throughout the community as well as in the school

Also Affect Our Lives

AT A CLUB MEETING, we are given an opportunity to serve the school and community. Besides this we can feel the spirit of fellowship by working and having fun with others.

THE BOX LUNCH PROGRAM, an innovation at M.H.S. this year, offers us a delicious, well balanced meal. A variety of lunches are served including a sandwich, dessert, and milk.

of Malden Itself

Between 2:00 P.M. and 8 00 A.M. the average M.H.S. student is influenced by the roots and the personality of the country and Malden itself. Running frantically to catch that bus, relaxing at Brigham's with friends and a cool soda, working over an untiring cash register at one of our markets, buried in thought, scaling stones on the Reservoir, in the hospital just up the hill, each one of us is spreading a little sunshine by his volunteer work, that strange sensation of dangling between childhood and adulthood, that special somebody we care about, the doubts, the movies, the outings, the draft, the family, the snowstorms, that source theme that is due in two weeks, the haircuts, the permanents, the cemeteries, the birthdays, the crushing problems found in the headlines of the Malden News; these are our roots.

We Shall Always Remember You, "Pop"

FOR HE'S A JOLLY GOOD FELLOW . . . is how "Pop" Taylor's Rifle Club members feel about him. The adviser to the Rifle Club for over thirty five years, he was presented with a gold watch at the annual Christmas party on December 20, 1962

Mr. Taylor, we couldn't let your final year at Malden High go by without recognizing your forty-two years of dedicated service. Affectionately known as "Pop" and often called "Dad," you have been like a father to many M.H.S.'ers over the years. Many of your students and colleagues have been grateful to you during the past twenty-eight years, while you led the Industrial Arts Department. The ability and success of your rifle teams has been recognized and rewarded on a national basis for the past thirty-seven years. We shall never forget your friendly attitude, interest, and able assistance.

The School Committee Strives To Improve

OUR HARDWORKING SCHOOL COMMITTEE, Mrs. Marguerite S. Holland, Mr. William Mini, Mrs. Bertha L. Gordon, chairman, Mr. George E. Lodgen, and Mr. Leonard J. Mullen, Jr. pause before their regular monthly meeting in the School Committee Room. In the front row are Mrs. Jill F. Thompson, secretary, Mr. Paul H. Phaneuf, superintendent, Mr. T. Richard Kelliher, assistant superintendent, and Mrs. Norma M. Green, clerk.

In his private office, Mr. Paul H. Phaneuf dictates material concerning important school business to his efficient secretary, Mrs. Norma M. Green.

The members of the school committee, Mrs. Marguerite S. Holland, Mrs. Bertha L. Gordon, Mr. William Mini, Mr. George E. Lodgen, and Mr. Leonard J. Mullen, Jr., meet on the last Tuesday of each month at 8:00 P.M. Led by Chairwoman Mrs. Gordon, the committee has devised a new salary schedule for teachers, which will be effective in September of 1963. The guidance staffs of both the high school and the junior high schools have been expanded. This year the Pierce school has been torn down and plans are underway to abandon the Faulkner school. The committee may also vacate the Maplewood school. To replace these buildings a new school is under construction on Mountain Ave. and a six-room annex is being added to the Glenwood school — each will have a cafeteria. To help relieve the crowded situation of the younger set, two new kindergartens have been opened this year. One is located at the Central fire station and the other at Browne Junior High School. Plans to be fulfilled in two years, are being developed for a regional vocational school. Along with the administrators, the committee is discussing the revision of the summer school program.

Our Headmaster's Message

The events of recent years have made it clear to everybody that we are living in a time of extraordinary opportunities for young men and young women. Only those who are prepared, however, will be able to take advantage of their new opportunities, and to make for themselves careers at once satisfying and profitable. How can we know which opportunities to be prepared for? We can't, of course, but we can all follow the example of Abraham Lincoln, who once said, "I shall study and be prepared, and my chance will come."

My wish for you all, as you leave Malden High School, is that you too, will find your place in this new-old society of ours. May the world be a better place for your living in it.

When I assumed my duties as Head Master in the fall in 1961, I took up my duties with mixed emotions: sadness at the thought that my appointment had been occasioned by the retirement of John B. Matthews, known, respected, and loved by thousands throughout the Malden School system; trepidation at the prospect of filling his shoes; and pride that at long last I was to head "my school," the school from which I was graduated in 1924, the school which I have served as a teacher and assistant administrator for thirty years, the traditional high school which has given such meritorious service to the young citizens of Malden.

As I review the Class of 1963, I find that the third-mentioned emotion, pride, is the predominant one; pride in the knowledge that you members of the Class of 1963, whether in college, business, or the industrial world, will be a credit to your Alma Mater, your parents and your teachers whose one wish is that you succeed in life.

Your class entered Malden High School 586 strong. Some 500 of you are being graduated. To those of you who have "fought the good fight" my heart felt congratulations. For three long years, in fair weather and foul, you have made your way. Many who started with you neither had the wit nor the desire to finish. Some had very good reasons for dropping out: illness, unfortunate circumstances, financial necessity. You may, therefore, have a sense of pride in the fact that you did what others were unable or unwilling to do.

In your success do not forget your parents. Regardless of the family economic status, many sacrifices have been made to help you reach this plateau in your education. Try to remember that education is a continuing process which ends only when you depart from this life.

In this day of flux and change, of doubts and fears, I would presume to urge you not to forsake the religion of your fathers, at least not until you have reached the age of understanding.

One last word. Be proud of Malden, our city, and Massachusetts, our Commonwealth. If you are called to serve your country, answer the call willingly. Remember that, without the roots of freedom and equality, neither your parents, your city, nor the Commonwealth would have been able to give you such an education.

Farewell to Seniors — May 16, 1963

Mabel McQuesten

Frances J. Jones

The major clerical work of the office is done by Miss Mabel McQuesten and Mrs. Frances J. Jones. With so many students applying to so many colleges, Mrs. Jones spends most of her time filling out college transcript sheets for the graduating class. In addition to this, she also takes dictation and works at the counter. Known to us all is Miss McQuesten, but unknown is the amount of work she does. When teachers are absent, it is her responsibility to get in touch with a substitute to take over for the day. She also types the daily bulletin, takes care of the payroll, takes dictation, and fills out transcripts for students who have already been graduated from Malden High. With all these duties amiable secretaries are never too busy to help students when they come into the office.

"Remember

without the roots of freedom and equality, neither your parents, your city, nor the Commonwealth would have been able to give you such an education."

Guidance Department Qualifies For N.D.E.A.

T. Franklin Grady, Jr.
Director of Guidance

M.H.S. has finally qualified for National Defense Education Act reimbursement since the Guidance Department now totals six counselors. Three new counselors have joined the department. Miss Mary J. Maselli, a popular teacher from Lincoln Junior High has replaced Mrs. Nancy Brown McCormack and is counseling juniors. She received her B.S. from Salem State Teachers and her Ed.M. from Boston University. Mr. Richard A. Dowd, a graduate of Springfield College, who received his B.S. in Ed. from Boston College, is in charge of college admissions. Mr. Thomas A. Drey, Jr., A.B. Harvard and Ed.M. Boston State College, is handling job placement.

The sophomores are fortunate in having Miss Barbara R. Norton as their counselor. Mr. Paul J. Royte has coordinated the testing program for junior and senior high schools this year.

The department has sponsored numerous group and class meetings for orientation to the school year, for hearing Deans from colleges and schools and for listening to speakers from various employment fields. It has also conducted a follow-up study of last year's graduates to determine how well they were prepared for work or college. The department has helped eleven graduates find employment and has worked with the Malden Redevelopment Authority to assist boys and girls whose homes are upset.

The major goal of the Guidance Department is to see that students are happy in school, but most of all, happy in their future.

From supervision of school programs to discipline

M.H.S. Executives Lead Busy Lives

Helping the school program to run smoothly are the Malden High School Executives, who besides their academic functions have other responsibilities. Our three Class Masters include Mr. Clarke R. Brookes for the sophomores, Mr. Arthur P. Boyle for the juniors, and Mr. Robert W. Perry for the seniors. Mr. Brookes not only handles sophomore discipline, but also coordinates non-athletic activities which include the supervision of the School Calendar and the direction of all activities in the Jenkins Auditorium. Mr. Boyle is in charge of the boys' attendance, boys' and girls' tardiness, and discipline for the Junior Class. Mr. Perry handles senior discipline, is Program Director, is in charge of supplies, and supervises the stage of the Jenkins Auditorium. Miss Edna E. Turkington, Dean of Girls, also is in charge of the girls' attendance. Mr. Abraham J. Oxman, as Faculty Manager of Athletics, buys equipment for both the boys' and girls' teams. He is kept active coordinating the box lunch program, the milk program, and the sale of candy. All these countless efforts of M.H.S. Executives help make our school program successful.

Driver Education

"I COULDN'T RESIST knitting some booties for your new baby" says Kathy Bartlett, an appreciative ex pupil of Mr. Cargill. Aside from his three driving classes, he teaches a fifth grade class at the Daniels School.

Started in 1953, the Driver Education Course, under the direction of Mr. Phillip Cargill and Mr. Anthony Guarino, provides the students of M.H.S. with an excellent opportunity to learn how to drive and to gain some essential knowledge of the mechanics and operations of the various parts of a car. Approximately one hundred seventy-five students enroll in this ten week course annually. During this time-period, they have thirty hours of observation and six hours of actual driving. Since the school has acquired one of each type of car, the pupils have a choice of either course, hydramatic or standard shift, for which they must pay $25.

Custodians

The efficient and hard working custodian staff help to make Maiden High School clean and smooth running. These people are always ready to help with any problem from finding scenery to listening to the various difficulties of students. There is at least one custodian per floor, plus matrons. Michael Curley is stationed in the basement, Leslie Regan on the first floor, David Finn and James Locke on the second. William McGhare on the third and Ben Greeley on the fourth. Our two matrons are Mrs. Helen Bogan and Mrs. Mary Spencer. With their ability to keep our school clean, "The White Tornadoes" serve us well.

The Student Secretaries Aid Our Faculty

THE STUDENT SECRETARIES include Front Row: Eileen Damelio, Lorna Gouge, Arlene D'Addario, Claire Garrant, Toby Sonenshein, Marie Spumma. Row 2: Jean Cromidas, Beverly DeCosta, Jean Folela, Karen Thackery, Judith Fitzgerald, June Mc-

Laughlin. Row 3: Diane Wilcox, Carmela Come, Arlene Vining, Nancy DiGiacomo, Jane Wilmont, Norma Scott. Row 4: Heather Walker, Diane Stickney, Linda Carroll, Astrid Peterson, Janet Theodore.

Jacks of all Trades . . .

Our Annual Substitutes Work at Many Jobs

The substitute teachers, Mrs. DiPietro and Mrs. Sullivan, are well experienced, both having taught previously. Mrs. DiPietro, now working towards her master's, taught at Melrose and Woburn, and Mrs. Sullivan, who holds a bachelor's degree, taught before her marriage. Both agree that it takes strong nerves and a sense of humor to be a substitute teacher.

Another aid to the school is the student secretaries, who work for various faculty members such as the athletic manager, classmasters, and guidance counselors. To qualify for such a position, they must know shorthand and typing. Since they work before, during, and after school, they certainly earn their pay.

Helen T. Sullivan

Lucille R. DiPietro

Eunice Y. Moore
Head of Commercial Department

Our ever expanding Commercial Department has grown even more this year. Under the leadership of Mrs. Eunice Y. Moore, the new edition of "Gregg Dictation Simplified" and "Gregg Shorthand Simplified" have been added to the classrooms. Now all typing classes are using the latest edition of "20th Century Typewriting" and four beginning bookkeeping divisions are enjoying the new edition of "20th Century Bookkeeping and Accounting." A Verifax copying machine also has been added to the office machines room to give students the practical experience they will need to operate that machine.

Two new additions to the teaching staff are Mrs. Mildred O. McAllister and Mr. Melvin D. Baran. Mrs. McAllister received her B.S. Ed. from the University of Maine and is studying for her M. Ed. at Salem State Teachers' College. She taught, previously to coming here, at Norway High School, Maine; Rockport High School, Massachusetts; and Ram High School, Connecticut. Mrs. McAllister enjoys reading and good music, but shows outdoor interest in her enjoyment of sports. Mr. Baran graduated from Salem State Teachers' College with a B.S. Ed., and is studying for his M. Ed. there. Before coming to M.H.S., he taught at Southbridge, Massachusetts. A marksman enthusiast, he teaches riflery at summer camp.

Distributive Education Offers New Opportunity

Carmine J. Belmonte

Distributive education began in Malden High School in September of 1962. Although it had been in use in several surrounding areas, this was the first time it had been tried in the Malden school system. The school committee appointed as the instructor Mr. Carmine J. Belmonte who had had experience as a substitute teacher and a sales manager.

Starting with three girls, the course has now expanded to nineteen students in the senior class. In addition, there is a junior class with nineteen members; and a sophomore class is in the planning stages. The class room itself has changed from a dingy first floor room with folding chairs to a well-lighted "laboratory" with glass display cases, attractive tables, and chairs. Along with the regular English and history courses, distributive education students explore all the different departments of retailing and salesmanship. All students receive regular school marks plus a grade from the company for which they work.

To supplement book and on-the-job training, selected speakers from all phases of industry lecture at regular intervals. In addition, the classes view films and slides.

Mr. Belmonte is trying to develop efficient and capable graduates to fill the unlimited number of openings in the business field. Applicants have found that the prospective employer prefers a student with an educational background distributed among the many phases of retailing and business administration.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION STUDENT, Geraldine Weiner capably displays her salesmanship to three interested parents on Malden High's Parents Night as Mr. Belmonte supervises the sale. The students gain invaluable merchandising experience both in the classroom and on the job.

English is Studied by Every Student

J. Russell Bowman
Head of English Department

The English Department has welcomed three new teachers this year. They are Miss Marjorie L. Resnek, Miss Gertrude Drey and Dr. Charles I. Gross, Jr. Miss Resnek received her A.B. from Wellesley and her M.Ed. from Tufts University. Part time instructors in the department are Miss Gertrude Drey and Dr. Charles I. Gross, who also teach classes in the Latin department.

Among the new texts this year is English 2600, the self teaching machine for grammar review. Each teacher of sophomore English has a set of these books in his possession to use at his discretion. Many new paper back editions have been added for outside reading. Some of these are Faulkner's Light in August, Paton's Cry the Beloved Country, Monsarrat's The Cruel Sea, Graves' I. Claudius, Lafarge's Laughing Boy, and Thoreau's Walden.

A new record player has given many classes a chance to hear as well as read such classics as Julius Caesar and Macbeth. Two sixth period College English 3 classes have been viewing the twelve television broadcasts of Our Town by Wilder, Hamlet by Shakespeare and Oedipus Rex by Sophocles.

Well-equipped Library

Dorothy-Belle Thorpe
Librarian
Assistant Adviser Class of 1964

Our high school library, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Belle Thorpe, offers an excellent choice of reference and reading material. Because the Malden Public Library is just across the street, the students of M.H.S. are unusually fortunate. Each fall Miss Thorpe gives a week's course in the use of the libraries for all the sophomores. This year, since there were so many more sophomores, each class made the tour of the public library under the supervision of its own English teacher.

Annually the library purchases a number of new books, which the students use for outside reading and reference. Another source of information is the various magazines and newspapers to which the school subscribes.

Edna E. Turkington
Dean of Girls, Head of History Department

Our history department, in the last year, has undergone many changes, most important of which is the new method of teaching. History students are no longer memorizing, but are learning the human side of history and cause and effect relationships. The department is trying to attach more relevancy between ancient history and current events.

A new book by Craven and Johnson has helped to achieve this goal. It is only one of the many new books which are being bought every year. Mrs. Ramsdell has purchased an American Heritage book on the Civil War. Miss Turkington's classes are using a book which sets aside a page every two chapters for a human interest story. This year some history classes are assigned three books to read; one biography, one non-fiction and one historical novel all in the nineteenth or early twentieth centuries. These books are to supplement the historical eras being studied in class. Mr. Wettergreen is showing color slides of Germany, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Holland, and Sweden from his summer trip to emphasize the locations of historical events, as well as the dates.

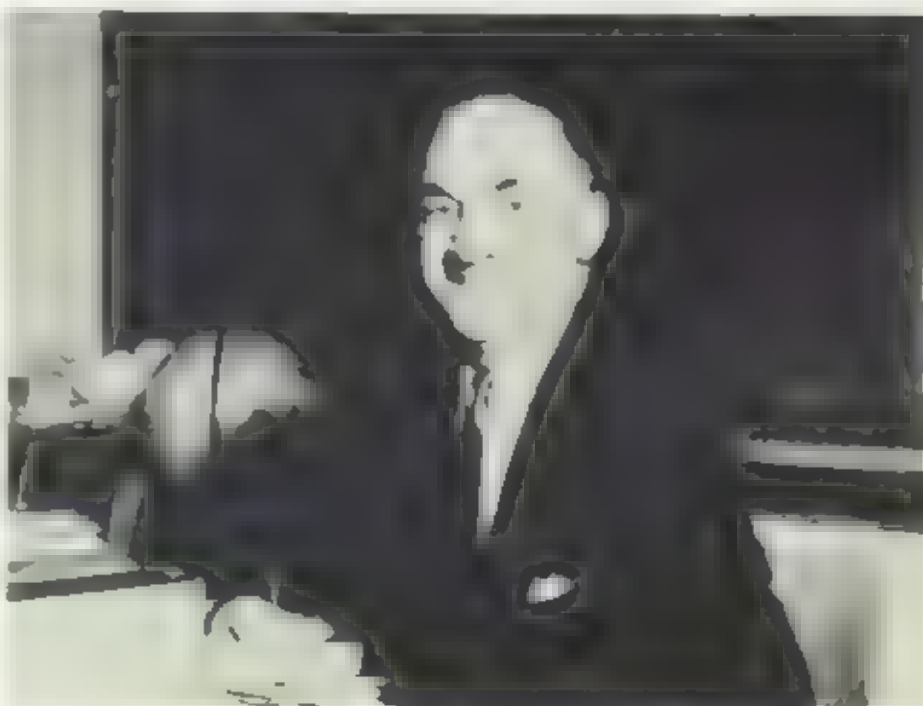

Two attractive additions are Mrs. Jane Willis and Miss Linda Sosna. Mr. Willis is a graduate of Pembroke College, where she received her B.A. Miss Sosna graduated from Boston State College, where she received her B.S.

There has been an influx of new language teachers at M.H.S. this year. Mr. Michael Oates, who studied at Fairfield University and Assumption College, and Miss Patricia M. Mahoney, a graduate of Emmanuel College who did practice-teaching here and then taught at Chelsea High for two years, have joined the French Department. Miss Mahoney is emphasizing a fairly recent method of teaching, the audio lingual method, in her General French I classes; they are using "The Audio-Lingual-Materials Level I" which resembles a loose leaf notebook. Some other methods which had been under consideration were the Gibson, the Holt, and Chilton-Didier, all of which employ tapes and films or film strips. Also acquired this year are some tapes put out by Ginn & Co. to go with the O'Brien books used in College French 1 & 2.

There were no additions to the German Department.

This year the new books, "In Einer Deutschen Stadt," a book for first year classes, and "Deutscher Sprachgebrauch" for the third year have been added to the department. Discs and tapes are used, with emphasis placed on oral work. The German teachers are stressing the oral-aural method used by most language teachers.

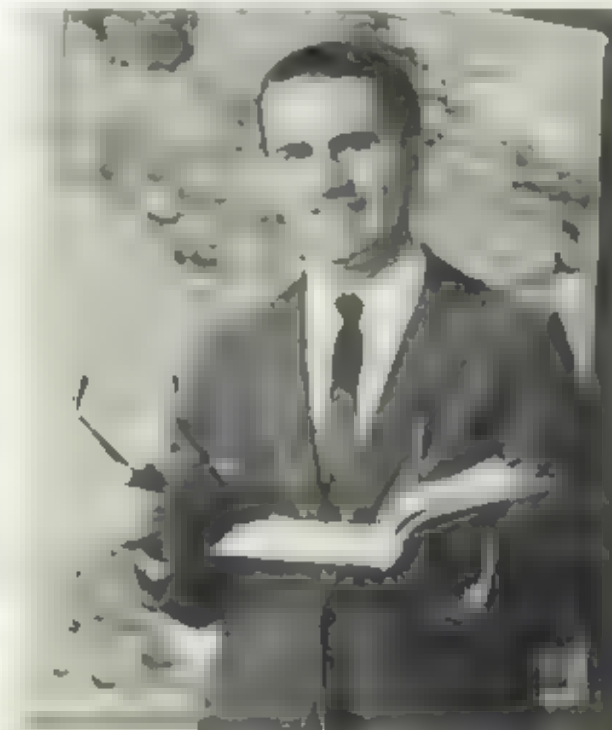

Of three newcomers to the Latin Department, only one of them teaches all Latin; Mr. James J. McCann, who obtained his M.A. at Boston University. Mr. McCann also holds extracurricular Italian classes, Monday through Thursday. Miss Gertrude D. Drey, a graduate of Emmanuel and Boston College, has three Latin classes and two English. Dr. Charles J. Gross, graduate of Tufts University and the University of North Carolina, has one Latin class and four English. The students certainly have an excellent chance to learn the language of their choice.

Students taking the general course are offered many subjects not available to other students. These include art, cooking, sewing and the industrial arts; printing, woodworking and mechanical drawing.

Art students work with oils, poster paints, water colors, ink, clay, and also aid in decorating the school social affairs.

In the cooking classes they learn not only cooking, but also the related subjects of household care. In the sewing classes, the sophomores begin on cotton; afterwards they are allowed to use any desired material.

Mary D. Carney
Head of Art Department

In the Industrial arts department, the printing shop does much of the printing required at M.H.S., like sports' schedules and dance tickets. The woodworking shop produces various pieces of furniture which the students take home to put to practical use. Since the machines used in these shops are similar to the machines used in industry, the boys gain valuable experience. In mechanical drawing, the boys learn to make specific drawings and blueprints.

In these courses, the students get excellent preparation for life after graduation.

This year there have been many new developments in the Mathematics Department. Miss Parris has become the new department head and there are three new teachers: Mr. Samuel Winerman, Salem State Teachers' College B.S. and Boston University M.Ed.; Mrs. Josephine Walczak, Salem State Teachers' College B.S.; and Mr. G. Eugene Giangregorio, Boston College B.A. and Boston University B.S., replacing Mrs. Priscilla Carney, who retired at Christmas. This department offers the students many courses, such as algebra I and II, geometry, general math, business practice, solid geometry, trigonometry, elementary functions, and review mathematics. With a sound background, our students have no fear about their future mathematics.

The Science Department Is The Best Yet

Robert W. Perry
Senior Class Master, Head of Science Department

With our new equipment ranging from strobe scopes and atomic models in physics and chemistry, to electronic demonstrators and weather vanes in radio and meteorology, our science department is the best M.H.S. has ever had. A grant from the National Defense Education Act has enabled us to buy ten high-powered microscopes at $350 each. Since all sophomores in the college course are required to take biology, these are of great assistance this year. In addition, for the first time, a sophomore college group is studying physical science. These pupils may go farther both in chemistry and physics, since they take these subjects for a year and a half. Not only have the sophomores had an opportunity for new courses, but so have the juniors and seniors. They may take the P.S.S.C. course run by the Physical Study Survey Committee which is an organization founded at M.I.T. for teaching students by film.

Also added to the science department are two new teachers, Mr. John Dempsey and Mr. George Holland. We are very fortunate to have Mr. Dempsey who majored in chemistry and taught in Iraq, since most chemistry majors go into industry. Mr. Holland, also a science major, and a former substitute for M.H.S., has returned to teach here, his alma mater. There is no doubt in our minds that the science department has achieved all the goals it had set for itself in this year of 1962-63.

STAND UP STRAIGHT advises Miss Martel while she takes height and weight of the girls in her gym class in accordance with the recent physical fitness tests

This year, in accordance with President Kennedy's interest in physical fitness, new tests have been added to the regular gym class to determine the physical fitness of each student.

Under the guidance of Miss Virginia Gardner, Miss Thelma Martel, Mr. Edward Melanson, and Mr. John Meschino the physical education instructor in Malden High School strives even more to develop physically fit young men and women.

In addition to these the regular gym course has been intensified. The girls spend some of each period doing rigorous calisthenics and the boys do acrobatics and tumbling on special floor mats.

The usual sports and games are not, however, in the least neglected. The students participate in such sports as basketball, volleyball, polo, badminton, track, and for the girls, square dancing.

Each student is required to take two periods of physical education a week, unless his schedule does not permit it.

In this, as in any other class, disciplinary measures are invoked on any student whose behavior is not up to standard. This punishment is usually the dread "S" period gym class which consists of rigorous calisthenics and running around the track in the gym.

In these physical education classes the students learn cooperation and sportsmanship as well as training and increasing skills. They learn companionship and the invaluable asset of being able to work well with people.

ALL RIGHT NOW, everybody be quiet!" orders Miss Crowe as she turns the dials during the recent hearing tests.

The Malden High School Health Department is run smoothly under the direction of Miss Grace R. Crowe, R.N. The nurse's office is open during school hours to all students and members of the faculty. If a student goes to the nurse, his temperature is taken and questions are asked about the nature of his illness. Then the student either returns to class or is sent home. Under Miss Crowe's supervision, eye and ear tests are administered to the student body. This year students were able to take advantage of a program which distributed the Sabin oral polio vaccine.

Mrs. Florence K. Parker and Mr. Arthur P. Boyle are the capable teachers of health at M.H.S. The health courses are designed to make students more aware of the need to protect their health.

Students of M.V.H.S. Are Placed In Good Jobs

James A. Booth
Principal

This year Malden Vocational High School is affiliated with Malden High. This trade school offers a three-year course to boys who would like to further their knowledge of a trade. The courses are auto, electrical, machine, and sheet metal. One week, the boys meet for class sessions and on the following week for shop instruction.

In the auto department, each student does repair work, such as engine overhauling, carburetion, and automatic transmission. Each graduate has to have his driving license. Upon graduation, the boys receive job placement.

In the electrical department, the sophomores do mock-up work and the juniors and seniors do complete production work. Wiring and lighting in schools, private homes, relighting in the library, inter-com and paging systems have been installed by this department. After graduation, most of the students are placed in a particular trade.

The students taking the machine course learn all operations on machine tools. During the year, the sophomores complete twenty projects of commercial value, and the juniors and seniors complete fifteen more advanced projects.

In the sheet metal department, each boy completes twenty projects a year. Some of the projects include exhaust work, heating installation, and rectangular-to-round transition.

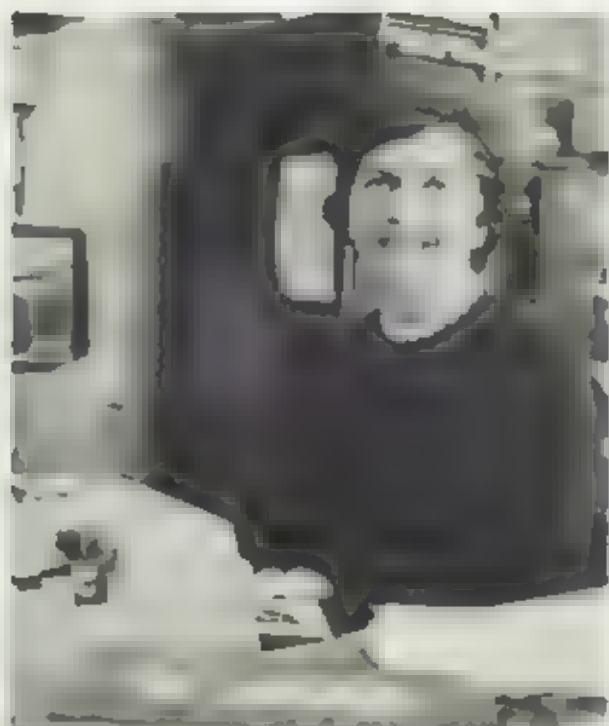

In addition, the students study English, math, science, and history which are related to the projects the boys undertake.

IN THE AUTO BODY SHOP Arthur Marsters and David Marsters are removing the engine with an engine hoist to prepare it for work on the automatic transmission. The boys spend every alternate week for three years in the shop.

AS A PART OF THEIR TRAINING, Santi Regano and George Florentine are overhauling a 1936 Mercury engine. While they are learning a process, the boys will repair anyone's car needing that type of repair.

With Understanding, Service, Optimism, Nobility, and Attainment, the Usona girls are always eager to give aid whenever it is needed. Whether by sponsoring the United Fund Drive, packing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family or singing Christmas carols at nursing homes, the members are always serving others. President Faye Anderson has no trouble finding girls to usher at school events, assist with the milk program or serve at the Teachers' Tea given January 21. At one of the regular Friday afternoon meetings in room 223, the club voted to contribute to the John B. Matthews Malden Hospital Scholarship fund in memory of Mr. Matthews who died in October 1962. He was the only man ever to belong to Usona, and always was very interested in the activities of the club. At the annual Christmas meeting Faye read "The Gift of the Magi" formerly read every year by Mr. Matthews. Other meetings during the year included Miss Nickolas's talk on her trip to Europe, Mr. Dempsey's presentation of the year he spent in Iraq, and the Initiation where, under the guidance of Miss Barbara Holden, the girls read original essays for their parents and guests. Twice a year the society takes in girls who have had a B or better in English. Each year a senior girl with the highest mark in English receives the Usona Book Prize.

AT THE FIRST JOINT CAM-USONA meeting in the school's history, held December 20 in the Music Room, Mr. John Dempsey, in the native costume of Iraq, presented a most interesting narration about the year he lived there as a teacher.

On alternating Fridays, Room 18 is filled with Lit members and Mr. John Queally, their adviser, planning activities for the year. For the third year, Lit sponsored the College Bowl with the four service clubs competing. The boys also help with the milk program, usher at Parents' Night and graduation, and sing Christmas carols to shut-ins. They competed against Cog in football, basketball, softball, and bowling. At the Senior Banquet, Lit presents the Frank A. Bayrd Award to the Lit member who best exemplifies the qualities of courtesy, gentlemanly conduct, and excellence in English and history. The 90th Reunion of the Literary Society was held in the Music Room on November 24, 1962. Committee members were Thomas F. Cosgrove, '34, Ralph A. Welch, '20 A, Vernon C. Newman, '27 B, and Neil M. Champlin Webster, who discussed the need for improving Pearl Street Stadium, and President Stephen Rotman, who gave the annual report. Alumni Thomas Harding, Nazarene; William Stewart, Tufts; Thomas Kelliher, Harvard; and John Sarno, Northeastern discussed the colleges which they attend.

CAM Collects Over $150 for March of Dimes

The Convenimus Ad Meditandum Society, with Miss Donna Crowley as the new adviser, and under President Sharron Lovins, has had a busy and successful year. In the fall, the girls earned $25.00 from the Cake Sale which was held at Jordan's. In early December, the executives put on a skit, "What Made Sammy Run," to acquaint the new members with Sammy, the little Indian boy whom C.A.M. supported for several years. From the sale of "tipons," this year, they are sending money for the education of ten year old Nesbah, in Arizona. On December 20, at the fifth Alumnae Night, five graduates spoke about their colleges: Linda O'Connor, Colby; Virginia Vartanian, M.I.T.; Ellen Rice, Jackson; Charlene Gorsun, Colby; Judy Seder, Ripon. On January 29, at the annual banquet at the Hotel Edison, the new C.A.M. members were initiated, bringing the total to forty-five. The guest speaker was Judge Daniel E. Crowley, father of Miss Crowley. Mr. Crowley, who is a municipal judge in Biddeford, Maine, spoke on government in everyday life. In May, they put on a fashion show at the Davenport Home and the McFadden Manor, and modeled their own clothes, served refreshments, and chatted with the ladies. At the May book review, Dr. Bowman discussed Light in August. C.A.M. girls certainly can claim to have achieved their goal of perfecting themselves in their ability to live with others.

NESBAH CLARK, whom C.A.M. is supporting, is a little ten year old Indian girl from Arizona. From the sale of "tipons" this year, the girls are sending money for Nesbah's education.

Not only did sports manager, Steven Peltzman, organize the Cog-Lit football game, which Lit won 6-0, this year, but he also formed an informal bowling league. Cog's main event of the season is the Katz Memorial Prize Contest, which has been held for sixteen years. This year, under co-chairmen Peter Vale and Robert Laskoff, it was held on January 4. With "The Ballad of the Lord and Columbus," by Phyllis McGinley, Meryl Kennison won the first prize of $25.00 and a trophy. The other speakers included Toby Segal with "The Telltale Heart," by Edgar Allen Poe, Thomas Robson with "Soldier of Fortune," by Robert Seruke, and Esther Yelgin with "Simon's Papa," by Guy de Maupassant. ## French Honor Reached its Peak in Membership

MR. MICHAEL OATES, demonstrating how the beret is worn, captivated French Honor members in November when he told them about Paris where he studied last summer. He discussed aspects of French culture, and played "J'entends Siffler le Train," the record which was the top hit in France.

Le Cercle Francais, under president Marilyn Black, seems to have been successful in achieving its goal of becoming better acquainted with French culture. Founded in 1929 by Miss Ruth A. McKenney, head of the French department until 1960, it is now advised by Mr. Louis Melanson. On one Thursday each month, the members meet for a program planned by two co-chairmen and held entirely in French. The first of these programs, held on September 27, was a film, Voice LaFrance. Next on the agenda was the meeting in November when Mr. Oates, wearing his French beret, gave a talk describing his trip to Paris last summer and then played French records. During the Christmas vacation, the members enjoyed a true French dinner at the Au Beau Champ Restaurant in Boston. In April, the new members, who had all A's or B's in French, were initiated, bringing the membership to over a hundred. At this time, the initiates had to participate in various French skits. At other meetings, French Password and Charades were played. As in former years, each meeting was closed with the singing of Les Marseilles, the French national anthem. At graduation the members presented the Ruth A. McKenney Award of a book to an outstanding senior French student.

German Honor Observed its 25th year

Founded in 1939 under the able advisership of Miss Minna Bretschneider, Der Deutsche Ehrenverein has expanded to twice its original size of twenty-nine. Today, with its adviser, Mr. Edward Galligan, and its president, Susan Osgood, the members meet once a month to develop their knowledge of Germany, its people, and its language. In October of this year, Mrs. Jean Potter spoke to them on German culture. Fifteen new members were initiated on December 3 when each one had to recite from memory a different German poem. Instead of the usual Christmas party the members attended The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm on December 26. In January, Mr. Galligan showed the group some fascinating slides of Germany which he had taken while he was there. Valentine's Day, each member was to create an original valentine with a German verse. But alas, on that particular evening, Malden was hit with another ice storm and the meeting had to be called off. At the end of the year, in May, the annual German Honor Banquet was held. At the senior banquet, the society presents a scholarship for the senior who has done the most for the club, and the Rustin Award, a book prize, for the highest ranking senior in the third year German.

STUDENT TEACHER, Mr. William Paul, spoke to the German Honor Society on November 13 in the Music Room. Once a foreign Correspondent in Germany, he told the members that great opportunities were open to them in that country. Mr. Paul taught Mr. Galligan's 5th period German class for 2 weeks.

TUFTS PROFESSOR Van L. Johnson is introduced to Mr. Webster by Dr. Gross after presenting his "slide-lecture" on the Virgilian Villa in Italy, on December 14, to Latin and History students. This "Tufts University in Italy" is where classical students may study in the summer.

Although they don't speak Latin, the members of the Latin Honor Society find many ways to enjoy the language. At the monthly meetings, held after school in the Music Room, the members participated in many varied activities. At one, President Julie DiNatale introduced a Latin translation game, at another Miss Demetra Nicholas, the club's adviser, showed her slides of Europe, and at still others, a Roman ghost story was acted out and a White Elephant Sale was held. One of this year's highlights was a visit to the Peabody Museum in Harvard Square to see the famous glass exhibits. The society helped to sponsor the Auxilium Latinum examination, given to all Latin students on March 22. Students with an average of B or better in Latin were invited to join the society at the end of the third term, if they were planning to continue their classical studies. On May 29, everyone attended the final event of the year, the Latin Honor senior banquet, at which the Florence G. Whittum Award for excellence in Latin was presented. Miss Whittum, a member of the Latin Department from 1922 to 1949, founded the society in 1925.

Future Nurses of America Comes to M.H.S.

A new addition to M.H.S., the Future Nurses Club, under the leadership of Miss Jacqueline Starr, adviser, and Donna Olsen, president strive to attain its main purpose to bring together in high school young people interested in careers in nursing and health, in order to share these interests, to explore opportunities and requirements in these fields, to grow as individuals by working together and to learn about the community life in which they soon will participate as informed citizens. At the meetings on alternating Fridays at 2:00 P.M. in the Music Rooms, the girls enjoyed various films on the nursing career. The members visited St. Elizabeth's, Malden, and Salem hospitals at which the nurses guided them through the hospitals and discussed the opportunities of the nursing profession. Fourteen girls volunteered their services for the administration of the Polio vaccine at several schools throughout Malden, Sunday, March 31. As a new club, they drew up their charter and a new constitution according to the national requirements. The girls held a ceremony at which they received their pins which were issued from the main office of the club. Tabby Sonenshein and Gail Boudreau served as co-chairmen of the Mother and Daughter banquet.

Key Club Meets Weekly in the Gay Auditorium

The Key Club of the Malden Vocational High School is the nationwide organization, which is the younger counterpart of the Kiwanis Club. Once a week its forty members meet on Thursday at 11:30 in the Gay Auditorium where, under the leadership of Paul Femino, president, they planned the different activities they could do to give assistance to others. Some of the members went collecting for the March of Dimes, brought magazines and library books to the patients of Malden Hospital, worked in the hospital on various assignments, and made and put up the decorations for the Valentine's dance. The Key Club was organized in 1959 by a committee from Kiwanis, chaired by Mr. James Booth, the director of M.V.H.S. Although the club has been in existence here for four years, Mr. Rick Sapienza was made its first adviser at the end of January. In order to qualify for membership, the students must be recommended by Mr. Booth and voted in by the Key Clubbers. Periodically, Kiwanis Club members attend a Thursday meeting, just as a few Key Club members attend a Kiwanis Club meeting. Two boys were chosen to represent the club at the regional convention held in Portland, Maine. At the end of the year, each member received one credit towards his graduation, while the Key Club Award was presented to the outstanding member.

KEY CLUB MEMBERS, this year, really outdid themselves decorating Marshall Gym for the annual Valentine's Dance held February 15. The main attractions were the gayly trimmed revolving bandstand and the heart-shaped throne.

Presenting the "Mad Woman of Chaillot"

Greenroom Enters Mass. Drama Festival

On stage everyone," is the cry heard on every stage throughout the world. This applies to our own, as the Greenroom Dramatic Society prepares for its productions. Through these plays each member had an opportunity to promote his dramatic abilities and backstage crafts. The members gained better self-expression, more effective speech, and confidence when appearing before an audience under the direction of Mr. John O'Brien, the club's adviser. Once a month at 7:30 in the Music Room, President Edward Kaufman opened a meeting which was followed by either a play put on by the Lebanon Players, a reading given by Mr. O'Brien, or an original skit acted out by some of the members themselves. As a result of these activities, the members gained some cultural background in the arts, especially in literature. In the spring Greenroom entered a one-act play in the Massachusetts Drama Festival. This festival included regional contests, then statewide competition. "The Mad Woman of Chaillot," starring Ellen Pansen was presented to the school at Greenroom's annual May assembly. At the senior banquet an award was given to the boy and girl who have contributed the most to Greenroom.

"DEAD OR RED" was the topic of debate between Mr. O'Brien and Lester Zaidel at the Greenroom meeting in the Music Room, November. Lester dynamically expressed his feelings that we must stand up and fight for our freedom, even if it eventually leads to war.

THE ACTORS AND ACTRESSES OF GREENROOM include Front Row: T. Schenker, T. Sege, M. Kaminson, L. Zaidel, Treasurer, N. DeForno, Secretary, J. O'Brien, adviser, E. Kaufman, president, C. ## HI-TEENS Promote Friendship and Goodwill

HI-TEEN MEMBERS, meeting each second and fourth Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A., are Kathleen Vassola, vice-president, Marjorie Smith, secretary, Mrs. Ramsdell, Miss Bloomerth, Bernadette Scacchi, Linda Santa Lucia, assistant treasurer, and Lorna Coupe, treasurer.

The Hi-Teens, under the competent direction of Mrs. Grace R. Ramsdell, adviser of the club, Miss Virginia Bloomerth, director of the Y.W.C.A., and President Bernadette Scacchi, held their meetings at the Young Women's Christian Association on the second and fourth Wednesday of every month. Bowling, swimming and ushering at foot ball games added to the activities of the club. The girls helped to plan the program for the annual Y-Teen Mid-Winter Conference held in Worcester from nine-thirty to four o'clock, March 23. Teen age girls from every New England state attended, along with four representatives from Malden: Bernadette Scacchi, Katherine Vassallo, Lorna Coupe, and Marjorie Smith. Discussions were held on the exploration of religions, cliques, teenagers in other lands, and careers and colleges. Adding to the day's festivities was a speaker, Mrs. Helen Spencer, who talked on "Social-lighting." After the discussions, the girls enjoyed various forms of entertainment. The Hi-Teens have as their main purpose to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities, and to build a fellowship of girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians.

AT A BOARD MEETING IN WORCESTER in February, Marjorie Smith, secretary, and Lorna Coupe, treasurer, of the Hi-Teens helped plan the annual Mid-Winter Y-Teen Conference to be held here on March 23.

TRI-HI Benefits Themselves by Serving Others

Another year has gone by and Tri-Hi has lived up to its high standards. The girls held a White Elephant Sale on November 21; the proceeds of which paid for the turkeys for the Thanksgiving baskets which were distributed to needy families in Malden. Other helpful activities of the club are running the Red Cross Drive and helping with the Milk Program. As well as achieving their main purpose to serve school and community Tri Hi girls also indulge in some good wholesome fun. This year the girls held a Christmas dance December 22, at the Mount Hood Country Club in Melrose and a Valentine Party, February 14, in Room 325. President Leslie Gallant and Miss Jane Crimmins, the club's adviser, helped to plan a skating party, February 17, at Mount Hood. At the annual Mother and Daughter Fashion Show during April, the girls modeled their favorite spring outfits. Mr. Dempsey, dressed in his Arabic attire, spoke to the girls on customs of Baghdad, Iraq and his experiences while teaching there for a year. His talk proved to be very enjoyable and interesting. At the Senior Banquet, the Carrie M. Darling Award is given to the girl who excels in shorthand and typing.

THIS THANKSGIVING BASKET was surrounded by Tri-Hi girls in room 325, November 21, as they prepared it with festive foods to distribute to a needy family in Malden. The club was divided into five groups and each girl brought different fruits or vegetables to fill the ornamented baskets.

TRI HI members, who sponsored the Red Cross drive in October include Front Row: R. Prato, A. Romano, L. Oliver, P. Dwyer, secretary, L. Gallant, president, Miss Jane M. Crimmins, adviser, M. # The Maldonian Produces Its Forty-Fourth Yearbook

Like a tree which makes firm roots in the soil and continues to grow and flourish, so the Maldonian has established itself as an award winning yearbook. The roots of the Maldonian consist of eighteen staffs working under an adviser co-editors and editors. Each day over 150 students ascend four flights of stairs to Room 403 during the different periods and the unforgettable hours after school. One major change has taken place this year in the organization of the Maldonian. The pictures of Malden "Voc" as well as M.H.S. students are included in this yearbook marking the first time every student has appeared. Another change has taken place in the art department. Before, an entire senior art class drew the sketches found on the divider pages. Now one student has taken the job of Maldonian artist.

In October, sixteen seniors attended the C.S.P.A. Yearbook Conference where they participated in meetings and discussions. On the way down, they stopped in Stamford to tour the T. O'Toole Publishing Company and learned how the Maldonian is put together.

The next weekend found sixteen Maldonian members attending the Boston University Conference. The rewards gained from attending the lectures compensated for the rainy weather through which they travelled to reach B.U. The 1962 Maldonian with its theme To-day, won a Medalist award from Columbia Scholastic Press, Outstanding Achievement from the Boston University Press Association, and first place from the National Scholastic Press Association.

CHOOSING PICTURES to identify the theme "From These Roots" for the Maldonian are Jane Bucknam and Neil Shain, co-editors and Howard Lev, photography editor.

EDDIE KAUFMAN, BIOGRAPHY EDITOR, admits "Things will get a little bit confusing trying to write 500 biographies" to Kara Kroms, senior editor, while Arlyne London keeps the files in order. Toby Nepris, junior biographer, is busily trying to learn all the facts for the biography of senior Shorron Lovins, who is academic life editor.

Blue & Gold Branches All Over M.H.S.

PUZZLING OUT THE UNLIMITED PROBLEMS of page layout and make up to the Blue and Gold in Room 103 every day are Lois Sheinhart and Marilyn Black, co editors, and Barbara Perry, editor in chief, who give unlimited hours to the preparation of our school newspaper.

MISS TRIBBLE who is always ready to lend a helping hand checks the work of Beverly Stanswick. Other B&G typists are A. DeRosa, S. O'Connell, M. Ruggiero, L. Trevino, and J. Vortman.

Each issue of the Blue and Gold is not only the finished product of the preceding weeks' work, it is also another addition to the accomplishments of the staff since the first pamphlet form of the paper was begun in 1915. For guidance in their work, the students look to Miss Mary G. Tribble, their capable adviser, and the editor-in-chief, Barbara Perry, with Marilyn Black and Lois Sheinhart assisting her. First period every day you will find Room 103 alive with the activities of each reporter, editor, typist, and staff member. At the beginning of the week, the assignments are given out and then each person goes on his way fulfilling his duties. On the Wednesday before the paper is distributed, these busy beavers gather to do the final make up and layout work on the paper, then it is sent off to the printers. A large circulation of the paper shows that the business staff has been hard at work during the last few months. Mr. Paul C. Smith has been the adviser and cornerstone of this staff for many years, laying a firm foundation. Each year the Blue and Gold is also active in school affairs; they sponsor the football rally each Thanksgiving and at the Senior Banquet award books and the staff is driven on by the urge to put out the finest school newspaper possible.

SETTING UP A PICTURE for the Blue and Gold is one of the various jobs of Alan Forman and Miriam Satlin, the competent news editors. Here they line up the students in charge of the last senior function, Joseph Renaghan, Linda Cassane, and Jerald Popovsky, co-chairmen of the Supper Dance and Warren Carroll and Phyllis Flint, co-chairmen of the Senior Prom.

DAVID COOK, Junior Reporter, counts the running head for ELL as a task of the April 5th B&G edition. This is one of the various jobs of juniors, gaining experience for next year.

AT THE LION BOOK FAIR MHSers became book worms as they browsed through the books

Two Issues This Year

First published in 1958 under their adviser Mr. Marshall G. Pratt, the Lion was originally distributed as an eight page mimeographed booklet. Two years later, Mr. Pratt left; and now with its adviser Mr. John A. O'Brien, the Lion has been improved and enlarged. Meeting each Monday at 2:00 in Room 215, this year, the thirty members of the Lion literary staff, with Fay Kaminsky and Brian Mishara as co-editors, put out two issues, one in March, and then the main one in June. For the top entries in the June issue, as in past years, various book prizes were awarded. Busily working behind the scenes, the business staff, under its adviser Mrs. Gail Howeler and its head, Nicholas Russo, earned the money for the publication expenses and also did all the typing. The creative work was under the guidance of Stephen Galli.

After Thanksgiving, all the staffs got together to hold the Book Fair, in the Distributive Education office. Shortly after the Book Fair, the Lion opened its special section with almost three hundred titles, in their store. This year, for the first time, six Lion members attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference in New York City from March 14 to 16. At this conference, the members learned how to continue their job of keeping up with their motto: "We can never be sure that the opinion we are endeavoring to stifle is a false opinion; and if we were sure, stifling it would be an evil still." — John Stuart Mill

LESTER ZIDEL helps a customer choose a book from three hundred titles. The money from the Fair went toward the publication of the Lion.

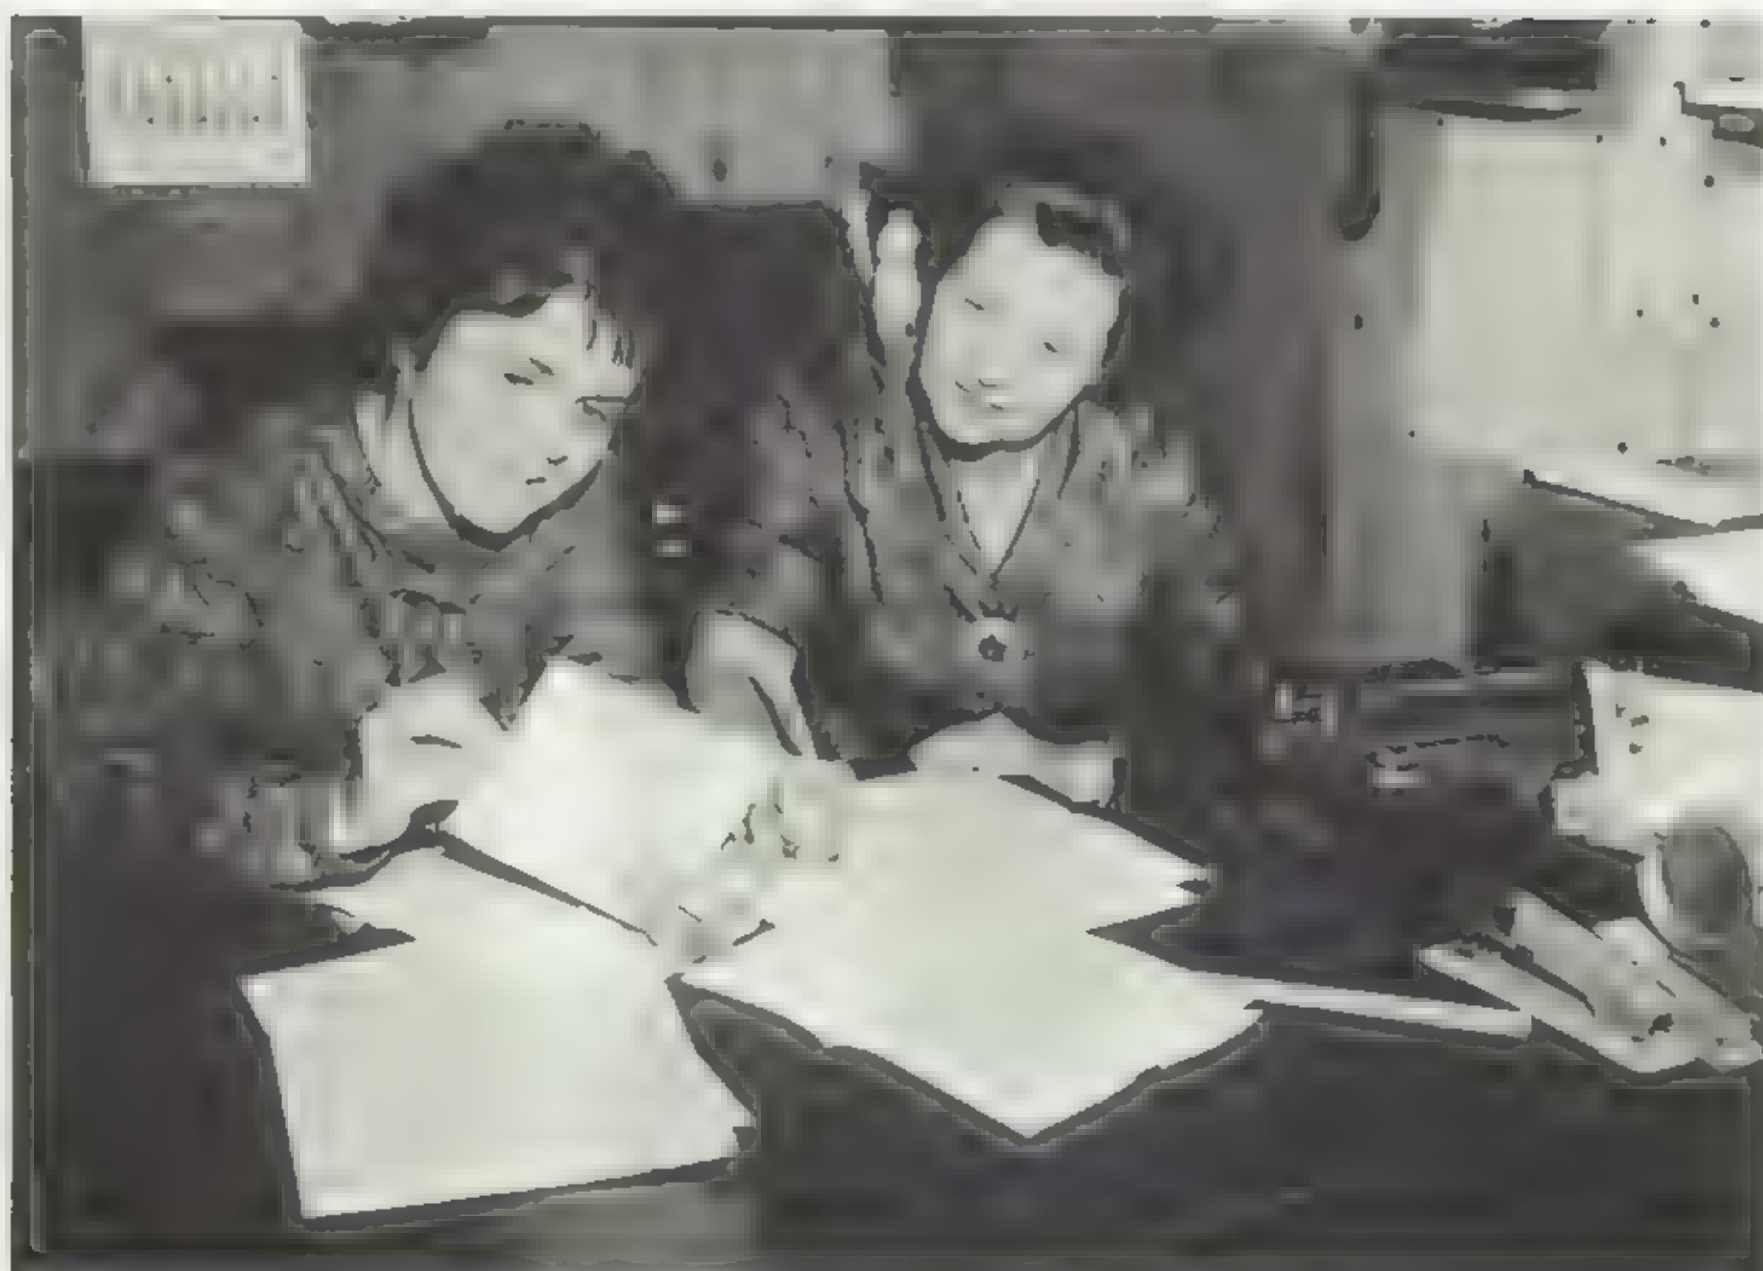

Left: THE LION BOOK FAIR brought many interesting discussions about the various books to be found there, as these two M.H.S. students plainly show.

THE 1963 LION BUSINESS STAFF, which handled the magazine patrons as well as all of the typing, includes: L. Zidel, R. Eldridge, R. Giachinta, Mrs. G. Howeler, adviser D. McIsaac, R. Fishman, and N. Russo Jr. head.

M.H.S. Has Various Other Publications

STUDENT GUIDE

1962 - 1963

Malden High School

Malden, Massachusetts

The former Sophomore Guide, which was originated in 1935 under the auspices of Hi-Y, came under the Maldonian sponsorship last year. With Linda Gallant as its first editor, the Student Guide was published as an aid for all M.H.S. students. After two months of preparation, on the last day of school in June, the final copy was left with Mrs. Wallask at Intercity Printers. During that time Linda worked with the three advisers, Mr. Carl Taylor, Miss Mary Heald, and Mr. Clarke Brookes, in order to have all the necessary information. The teacher lists had to be rechecked, the floor plan revised for better understanding and the various rules and regulations made clear. In all, the main goal has been to achieve a booklet which would be clear enough for sophomores, but which would also serve as a guide to juniors and seniors.

THE DAILY BULLETIN is made up each morning in the main office by Miss Mabel McQuesten. Here, she is interpreting our hurriedly scribbled bulletin notices. Before lunch each home room receives a copy of the bulletin which is read to the students of that room at the close of recess.

M.H.S. has a number of important "behind the scene" workers; one of the most well known and beloved of these is Miss Mabel McQuesten. Each morning for the past twenty-five years, she has printed the bulletin. The numerous steps in producing the bulletin include checking with Mr. Arthur Boyle and Miss Edna Turkington on all absentee notices. When this has been done, along with her skillful interpretation of our bulletin messages, Miss McQuesten sends the material up to Miss Palmer in Room 322. Here, the bulletin is typed, either by students, or by Miss Palmer herself. Next, it is returned to the office where Miss McQuesten "cuts out" a master unit. Finally during third period, students pickup and deliver the bulletins to the various homerooms.

M.H.S. OFFICE FORMS are being printed by Mr. Larson's boys. This staff prints all dismissal and admission slips, tickets, programs, schedules, publication slips and office forms.

Another most essential project in M.H.S. is that of printing the various slips, tickets, programs, and office forms, too often taken for granted by all. This is handled by Mr. Larson and his second year printing students. Since 1935 his boys have spent ten periods a week printing these necessary materials. They also work in co-operation with the art department and many of the clubs and organizations when needed. The boys gain much experience from this, and many of them later go into printing as a career.

Mr. Robert K. Love

The senior class has been very fortunate in having the aid of that unselfish, hard-working, and often unpraised group, the class advisers who gave innumerable spare hours to the realization of success for all the projects of the Class of 1963. Despite many other responsibilities, these teachers were always ready to help out with a cheerful smile and needed reassurance. Throughout the past three years our advisers have given tirelessly of themselves to guide us from our first sophomore dance to our senior banquet. To these wonderful people who did so much, the Class of 1963 owes much more than it can ever repay.

To Miss Norton

Our Deepest Thanks

MISS BARBARA R. NORTON

Sometimes there are so many words of thanks to say which never really are enough to express our deep appreciation for Miss Norton's assistance and capable leadership through three years of devoted service to the class of 1963. On Miss Norton's shoulders for the past three years have been heaped the responsibilities for the successful outcome of all our class functions. When there were mistakes in printed programs, people not paying dues, no entertainment for dances, and not enough money for decorations, plus difficulties far too numerous to mention, Miss Norton would be swamped with additional work for which she had to make time. She was the person who worried and worked when many left the fate and success of the dances, the play, the junior varieties, and the prom to the stars. Miss Norton was the star behind the scenes who rarely got the applause due her.

Knowing all the seniors, Miss Norton holds her door open for anyone and everyone with any kind of question or problem; be it from trouble in math to uncertainty about the future. A visit with Miss Norton is never a waste of time, for one never goes away without having received assistance. Her cordial understanding manner makes it easy for one to approach and talk to her. Despite her ever-full schedule, to Miss Norton the individual never comes second. At council meetings, her witticisms and delightful sense of humor have helped to make these meetings enjoyable and many important matters less formidable and easier with which to cope.

Thank you can be just a polite murmur or something more. To the class of 1963 it expresses our feelings, so we say good-bye to you, Miss Norton, good-bye. We shall never forget you; and above all, we thank you.

Our Class Leaders Guide Us To Success

THE SENIOR COUNCIL are Front Row: A. Grant, T. Albergo, K. Krams, L. Cassano, D. Moccia, D. Matheson, E. Fish. Row 2: H. Nadler, B. Perry, W. Carroll, T. Segal, P. Botting, B. Thistle.

Under the efficient guidance of Miss Barbara Norton and President Ralph Kenty, the Senior Council has lead the class of 1963 through three wonderful years of well-planned and very successful activities. Consisting of a boy and a girl from each of the thirteen senior homerooms ranging from Room 14 to Room 111, the council is responsible for collecting class dues, helping with the newly developed box lunch program, and choosing the chairman of all the class functions. Elected are those who exemplify an exceptional sense of responsibility and concern for their class. From the beginning of our sophomore year through graduation, the council, meeting anywhere from the physics lab to the Jenkins or the Gay Auditoriums, aided all our class productions; from procuring and moving props for the Senior Play to lending a helping hand behind the scenes as stage managers and decorators for the various dances. Without their wise decisions and support, such successes as the junior varieties, "Cape Cod Carousel," the senior play, "The Mousetrap," the senior prom, "Persian Paradise," the dances, "Christmas Rhapsody," "Autumn Leaves," "Bon Voyage," and the Senior Banquet would not have been possible. We have these hard-working representatives to thank for three years of fun-filled memories in Malden High School.

President

"Our prime purpose these past three years has been in the pursuit of knowledge and the developing of our minds not only to know but also to discover. As the end of our senior year draws to a close, I would like to wish all of you success in achievement and happiness in the future."

Annual Kick-Off Dance Ushers In Football Season

TICKETS, PLEASE? Students and teachers, anticipating an exciting evening, are met at the door of the Marshall Gym by Susan Rosen, drum majorette, Joe Santogate, dance co-chairman, and members of the dance committee.

TWENTY-ONE BATON SALUTE Led by Pam and Eva, the majorettes and cheerleaders form an arch through which the football team enters. John MacNeil smiles as he is introduced as a guard on the varsity squad.

Advised by Miss Barbara Norton and assisted by Mr. Nunzio Luca, the senior class launched the Kick-Off to Victory dance, on September 14, 1962 in the Marshall Gym. Their first official social function of the year, under the co-chairmanship of Susan Hill and Joseph Santogate, was begun with a welcoming address by the co-chairmen. At this time, they introduced the 1962 football team along with the M.H.S. majorettes and cheerleaders. Richard Schofield, Gerald Williams, and Herbert Kepnes, chosen from a list of student volunteers who had previous experience, served as student disc jockeys for the evening.

During the intermission, Eva Fishman assisted Joe Santogate in introducing the cheerleaders, who with the majorettes, entertained. They demonstrated many of the cheers that were used to spur the team on to victory. Following the cheerleaders, but no less skillful, came the majorettes, stunning in their blue and gold uniforms. Under the direction of Pamela Vaccaro and Susan Rosen, they twirled through several intricate routines. At the conclusion of the entertainment, the happy crowd went back to dancing to give a perfect end to a perfect evening.

HANDS ACROSS THE LOCKER BENCH The MHS majorettes wish each other good luck with a smile and a hand clasp before doing their twirling in the gym.

LET'S TWIST AGAIN with lovely Georleen Howitt and Mr. Nungesser as they twist rhythmically while many delighted teachers and students at MHS look on.

PLATTER PACKERS Herbert Kepnes, Richard Schafert and Gerald Williams, student disc jockeys, provide songs by such stars as Carmen Francis and Ray Anka.

EVA FISHMAN, CAPTAIN of the cheerleading squad and Joe Schlegel, co-chairman of Kick Off to Victory, introduce the cheerleaders and their new routine.

By eight o'clock on the very cold evening of December 14, 1962, the Jenkins Auditorium was filled with an expectant audience eager to see the senior class performance of Agatha Christie's melodrama, The Mousetrap. A departure from the usual type of senior play, The Mousetrap was a suspense-filled murder mystery which was very well received. The fine performance of the cast was the result of nine weeks of strenuous preparation. Many evenings were spent in long hours of rehearsals despite a hard school day. The repeated instructions to "speak more slowly, louder, and enunciate more clearly"; the direction to walk slowly to and then to sit on a non-existent sofa, while the prop committee tried frantically to procure one that fitted the specific need; a procession of boys willing to give a hand after school to carry heavy furniture needed for props from a warehouse; a person running to Boston on a moment's notice for an English newspaper to add an authentic flair; the embarrassment of trying to look dignified while tripping over the inspector's feet; the endless work of adjusting the lighting; the daily orchestra practice on the music for intermission; the heavy burdens of responsibility and work on Miss Norton's shoulders when all unfinished details and preparations were left to her; and many other sacrifices made by people connected with the production of the senior plays are too numerous to mention here. The rewarding result was the successful production of The Mousetrap.

A KISS AND ONE WELL DESERVED, is given to Billy Mann, co-chairman and leading actor of The Mousetrap, by Miss Jane Desmon, who yields to the wishes of the audience and receives recognition and roses for her successful job as director of the play. Despite hard commuting conditions she was always there. Ralph Kenty, senior class president and Terry Grant, the other co-chairman applaud in agreement with the audience. A graduate student and faculty member at Emerson College, Miss Desmon besides directing plays, is a talented actress, currently playing in the musical "South Pacific."

THE MALDEN HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA, making their first appearance of the year, lighted the suspense of the audience with their musical selections. The thirty six members of the orchestra who practiced every day in the Music Room, entertained the audience with the rendition of the medley from the well known musical "West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein and also "The Way You Look Tonight" and "The Song Is You" by Jerome Kern. Under the capable direction of Mr. Henry Corral the orchestra graciously received well earned applause for their exceptional performance.

41 Seniors Become National Honor Members

FORTY ONE OUTSTANDING SENIORS in the top quarter of their class, this year, were elected to the National Honor Society on the basis of their character and achievements. Established in February 1924 by the National Association of Secondary Principals the society was founded in Malden three years later by the late Headmaster Thornton Jenkins. The new members are Front Row: Marilyn Black, Ann Marie Elia, Linda Berman, Gerald Popovitsky, Barbara Perry, Alan Forman, Jane Bucknam, Faye Anderson, Loraine Sica, Theresa Albergo. Row 2: James DeMoss, Norma Scott, Geraldine Weiner, Fagge Kaminsky, Miriam Sartin, Donna Olsen, Julie D'Nata, Eileen Fish, Leslie Galant, Lois Sheinheit. Row 3: Peter Stewart, Neal Shain, Wayne Gawe, Stephen Ratman, Diane Katz, Kaira Krams, Virginia Samon, June McLaughlin, Patricia Devitt, Judy Stone. Headmaster F. Champlin Webster, Jr. Row 4: Peter Yale, Peter Belling, Warren Corra, William Spector, Lawrence Liederman, Sharron Lovins, Caro Coughlin, Bernard Coughlin, Alfred Santosuosso, and Susan Osgood.

SPEAKERS AT THE ASSEMBLY were Gerald Popovitsky, Master of Ceremonies, Barbara Perry who emphasized the importance of Character, Jane Bucknam who told of the sacrifices of Leadership, Alan Forman who stressed Service to others and Faye Anderson who pointed out the universality of Scholarship.

Proud parents sat in the front rows of the Jenkins Auditorium on Tuesday morning, March 19, as students swarmed in to witness the annual induction of outstanding seniors into the John W. Hutchins chapter of the National Honor Society. Selected from the top quarter of their class, those seniors were chosen who best exemplified the qualities of leadership, character, scholarship, and service. Master of Ceremonies Gerald Popovitsky greeted the audience and introduced the speakers who told about the qualifications a National Honor member should have. Barbara Perry spoke on Character, Alan Forman on Service, Jane Bucknam on Leadership, and Faye Anderson on Scholarship. Headmaster F. Champlin Webster, Jr. administered the oath, congratulated the new members, and finally called the nervous seniors in alphabetical order to walk across the stage for what seemed a mile to receive their membership cards. In the absence of Miss Turkington, Mrs. Eunice Moore presented each new member with a small gold National Honor pin with its keystone and symbolic torch of truth.

Seniors Receive Awards for Achievement

MAYOR WALTER J. KELLIHER was delighted to greet popular class members Joe Santagate and Santi Rigano who were elected by the student body to represent the Milton and Vocational High Schools at the State House on Student Government Day, Friday, April 5. An unexpected honor came to Santi in that he was chosen to act as Attorney General for the day.

ANDREA GRANT regretfully had to be absent from the National Honor Assembly for a good reason on March 19. She was receiving the coveted D.A.R. good citizenship award in Boston.

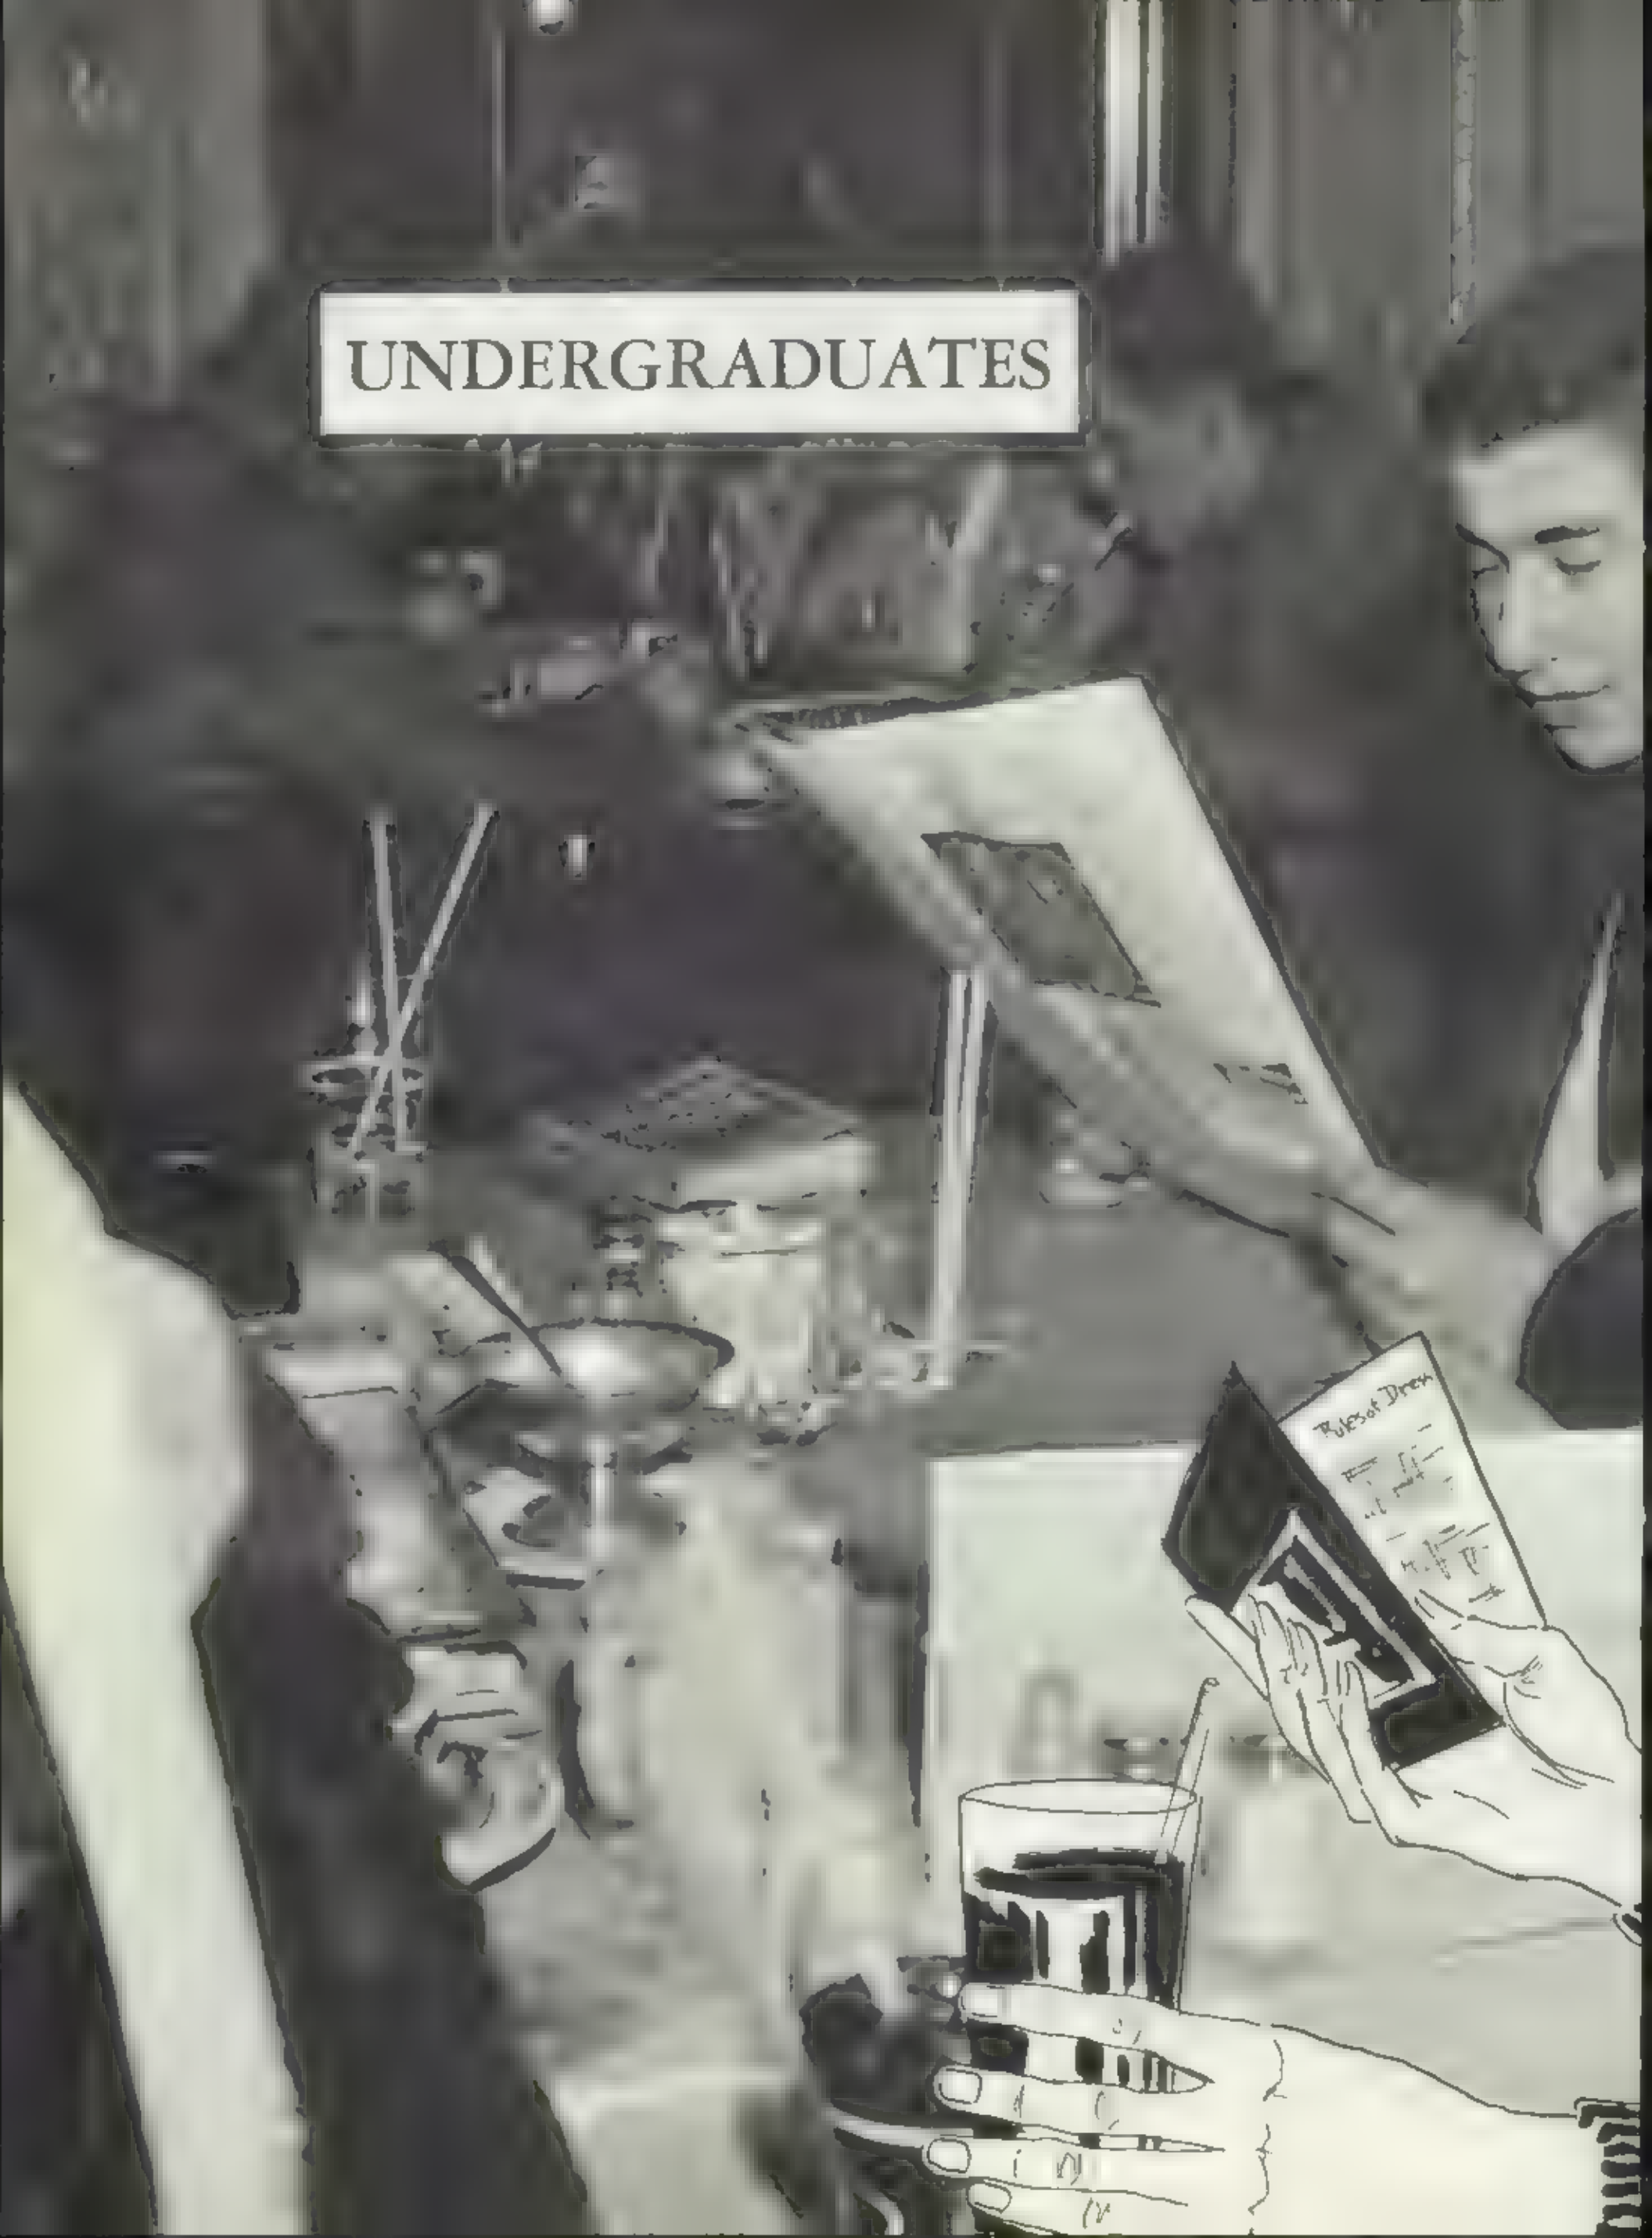

JANE BURKE, congenial chemistry lab assistant, was honored at the Jewish War Veterans' banquet on February 17, 1963 for the many qualities which make her a good citizen and friend.

"CONGRATULATIONS, WAYNE," beams Mr. Rossiter as he presents Wayne Crowe, the most promising boy in the Class of 1963, with the Harvard Book Prize at the last junior assembly.

The Class of 1964 returned to M.H.S. on September 5, 1962, ready to begin their junior year with the same spirit which made their sophomore year such a success. First on the agenda were the vital class elections. On September 21, 1962, the juniors elected exactly the same slate as they had the previous year: Thomas Cosgrove, president, Jackie Fitzgerald, vice president, Phyllis Armstrong, secretary, Donna Coffey, treasurer, and Margaret Lacey and Brenda DiPaolo, assistant secretary and treasurer, respectively. These six class leaders efficiently carried out their duties for the Class of 1964.

On November 2, 1962, Janet Gordon and John McCarthy presided over "Seismic Turbulence," the annual junior dance. Immediately afterwards, Rosemary Breed and Henry Erelli began plans for the "Manhattan Melody" of March 22, which proved to be one of the best Junior Varieties yet. To wish good luck to the seniors, the junior class sponsored the Senior Farewell Dance on May 17.

With a past such as this and leaders like they have, the juniors can be assured of a successful senior year.

"WHERE SHALL WE PUT THIS?" says Maggie Lacey to Phyllis Armstrong while keeping the scrapbook, a record of the activities of the juniors, up to date.

"ROOM 204, ALL PAID-UP!" Brenda DiPaolo and Donna Coffey find time to collect class dues during "S" periods in Mr. Carroll's room.

To Usher in A Successful Year . . .

The Junior Class Causes A "Seismic Turbulence"

AND WE DREAMILY DANCED THROUGH THE NIGHT EVEN WITH STOLEN NEDDIES

at M.H.S.

At eight o'clock on November 2, 1962, weeks of new ideas and preparations materialized into a junior dance which was a credit to our Class of 1964.

Under the inspiring advisership of Miss Joan Breslin and the unfailing guidance of head adviser Miss Audrey Rain, the first junior event of the year took place. At the head of the student committees, Janet Gordon and John McCarthy ably led their classmates in an attempt to produce an unusual dance. Even the title was different! To the first person who could correctly define "Seismic Turbulence" as a tornado, the junior class offered two tickets to this year's Junior Varieties. At the dance, Mr. Boyle picked the winner's paper out of a box filled with the many right answers. Lucky sophomore, Gail Little, won the two tickets.

Alyce Greenlaw, singing "Tonight" and Beryl Gagliardi, with "Over the Rainbow," provided the entertainment along with Paul Faucher's group, who played the popular "Midnight in Moscow." At exactly ten o'clock, the big moment arrived. Mr. Webster announced that the student body had made history by electing a junior, Carol Trabucco, as 1963 Queen of the Golden Tornado.

As the dance ended, echoes of joyful voices and surprised screams rang in the emptiness of Marshall Gym. The "Seismic Turbulence" of M.H.S. ended in a success never to be forgotten.

MEET THE TOP BRASS OF SEISMIC TURBULENCE — chairman Janet Gordon and John McCarthy. Although these two were indispensable in planning the dance, it was only through the efforts of enthusiastic class members and advisers that this first junior social event of the year resulted in a huge success. Over fifty students took upon themselves the responsibility of transforming Marshall Gym into a scene of happiness to M.H.S. on November 2, Wednesday.

ALL EYES ARE ON CAROLE as our new queen graciously accepts a bouquet from Mr. Webster to the delight of Eileen Fish, Eva Fishman, Terry Grant, Gail Honigan, and Margaret Lacey. Other proud members of her court are Frances Ciprichia, Joanne Assetto, Donna Coffey, Dale Caldwell, Cathy Morando, and Brenda DiPaolo.

Manhattan Melody

"I WANT TO CALL IT MANHATTAN MELODY" says Harold Damelin to Bob Prodanas

"JUST ONE MORE THING" reminds Director Letty Russo to the cast and co-chairmen of Junior Varieties at dress rehearsal Thursday night

JANET NARDIZZI AND EVA FISHMAN in blue, danced their way to first place with their Modern Jazz Interpretation of "St. Louis Blues."

Standing room only was the situation Friday night, March 22, before curtain time for "Manhattan Melody," the 24th annual Junior Varieties show presented by the Class of 1964

Broadway settings, flashing lights, and gay colored costumes provided the audience with fun, laughter, and an enjoyable evening. By the time the show began, about 200 persons had to be turned away at the door.

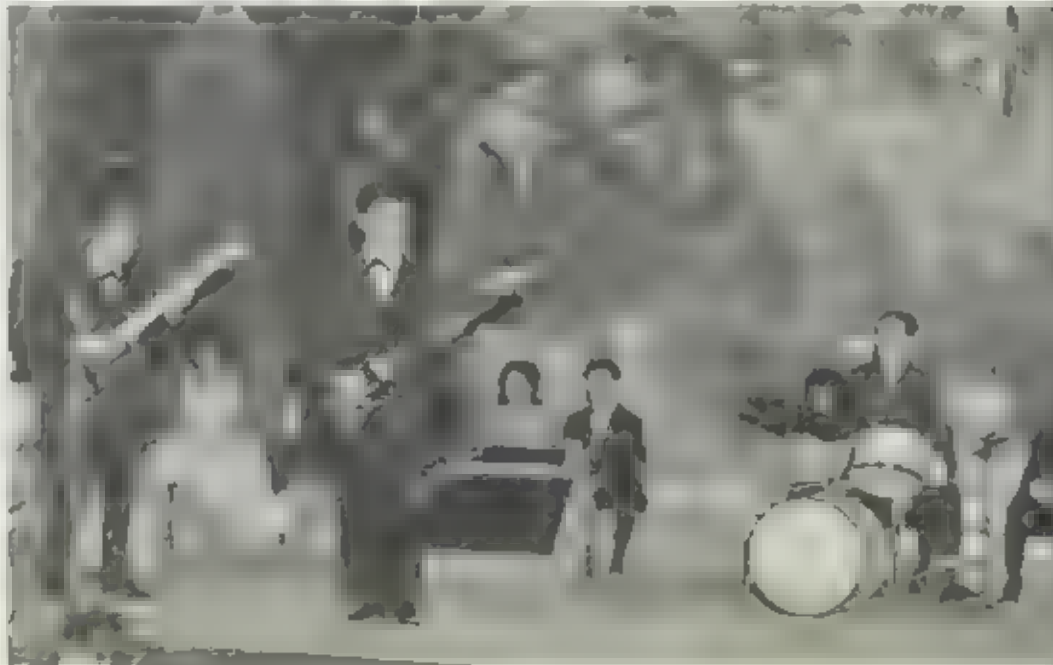

From the beginning, the show had audience appeal and the performers took three curtain calls at the end of the show. Judging from the enthusiasm even before the show was staged, a capacity audience easily could have been obtained for a second night, without advertising. The Jenkins Auditorium holds 1,750 persons seated, and every seat was filled with a substantial number standing.

Some 150 students performed in the musical production under the direction of Miss Letty Russo. Co-chairmen of the show were Rosemary Breed and Henry Erelli. This "sell-out" evening ended five months of hard work which was really a pleasure to all those who participated.

PENNIES FROM HEAVEN almost fell with the DuRays' singing consisting of Ed Cook, Bob Crowley, Ron Rossi, and Fred Beckett.

PAUL TARTARCHNEY, ROBERT STEVENS, AND ROBERT CARLUCCI, playing "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White" with a tango beat

The Class of 1965 Elects Paul Earle and

Early on the morning of September 5, 1962 738 anxious sophomores arrived at Malden High after a long vacation. The Class of 1965, the largest in M.H.S. history, quickly settled down for a productive year under the guidance of Miss Claire DeVito, head adviser, and her ten fellow advisers. On September 27, the 22 sophomore homerooms elected representatives to the temporary council. Council leaders were John Salmon, chairman, Clifford Swanson, assistant chairman, Pamela Menard, secretary, and Paul Crotty, treasurer.

The most important event of the year, the class elections, took place on February 8. After weeks of planning, the sophomores chose their class leaders. Paul Earle and Kathleen Watkins were elected president and vice-president in a close race with Clifford Swanson and Kathryn Steed respectively. Pamela Menard and Thelma Perrigo became secretary and treasurer, respectively, with Phyllis Factor and Catherine Reddington as their assistants. Immediately these leaders began plans to lay the foundations for three successful years at M.H.S.

THE SOPHOMORE TEMPORARY COUNCIL includes: Front Row: N. Johnston, A. Danta, J. Repucci, M. Zapp, Miss Claire DeVito, M. Powell, M. Buckley, C. Scrimshaw. Row 2: B. Allen, P. Menard, N. Steed, R. Scott, C. O'Neil, J. Calata, R. Warner, J. Downing, K. Steed, G. Little, T. Joyce. Row 3: R.

Calata, L. Dempsey, C. Votafaro, P. Calata, J. Luongo, C. Mank, D. LeBlanc, J. Pustantonia, J. Frberg, P. Crotty, E. Feinstein, K. Aird, Buck. Row 4: G. Gibson, P. Steed, W. Mingo, M. Kaufman, J. Rittershaus, E. Davine, E. Bransfield, J. Martone, S. Clancy.

Kathy Watkins To Top Offices

CATCHY AND COLORFUL posters quickly covered the third floor walls as hopeful candidates in the February 8 sophomore elections eagerly tried to find enough votes for a victory.

POOR PAUL SURROUNDED BY PRETTY GIRLS The Class of 1965 elected Paul Earle to the presidency in the February 8 election with Thema Perrigo, treasurer, Kathy Reddington, assistant treasurer, Kathy Watkins, vice-president, Phyllis Factor, assistant secretary, and Pamela Menard, secretary, to complete their slate of officers.

IN THE STACKS three inquisitive sophomores pause during their tour to peek in an old Maldenian. The stacks contain over 60,000 books of all types and varieties.

AT THE RYDER GALLERY they view the colorful painting "Hilltop" by Frank Benson. The many paintings found here are valued at over two million dollars.

Sophomore Sherrill Lawlor Becomes

On February 16, 1963, in the Marshall Gym, the twelfth annual Vocational Valentine Dance took place. The diligent planning of Paul Femino and George Florentine, the co-chairmen, and Mr Roland T. Cotton, adviser, resulted in a tremendous success to be remembered by all who attended.

The decorations for this dance, the high point of the M.V.H.S. social year, were colorful enough to rival any previous dance. With a repertoire of everything from jazz to the classics, the Avant-Garde Quartet supplied dance music throughout the night. This year's Voke cheer leaders, Susan Powell, Roberta Shephardson, Kathy Marinello, Patty Garlick, Pat Tamasi, Sandra Devanna, and co-captains Elaine Vogel and Bernice Fitzpatrick, entertained with some of their lively routines.

Immediately after the impressive Grand March, the three judges chose the new queen of the Vocational Valentine Dance. Though they had a difficult decision to make, the women honored Sherrill Lawlor, an MHS sophomore, with this coveted title. With the congratulations of Mary Scott and Patricia Geer, the two runners up, Sherrill proudly accepted her loving cup and crown. Soon, the first Voke dance under the new system of close co-operation between Malden High and Malden Vocational High, came to a successful end.

Right: THE GRAND MARCH led by Paul Femino, Mary Scott, George Florentine, and Rosemary Giachinta, highlighted the entrancing evening of February 16, 1963 in the Marshall Gym, which the decoration committee had successfully transformed into a paradise of red and white.

and Assemblies

With the walls of the Gay Auditorium resounding every first period, the band, of over one hundred and twenty-five members, and the fourteen majorettes practice for their many civic and school appearances. Under Dr. Herbert H. Silverman's direction and assisted by Mr. Patrick Melchionda, the band is also aided by the Band Parents' Organization, which, among other things, serves cocoa at football games and helps plan the annual band trip. The high stepping majorettes lead the band in many intricate formations with their baton routines. With brilliant blue uniforms the band adds color and animation to football games, rallies, and the basketball series at the Boston Garden Tech Tourney. Besides performing at school assemblies the members also march in parades for patriotic functions, such as Veterans Day and Memorial Day. A major event for the band is their annual three day concert tour. This year they went to Plattsburg, New York and played host to the Plattsburg band when it came to Malden. Another ceremony for which they practiced the year round, is the graduation exercises. The officers of the band are president, Dennis Murphy; vice-president, William Spector; secretary, Lorraine Festa; treasurer, Wayne Goodwin

The 36 Member Orchestra Presents

MR. HENRY E. CARRAI, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, is in his first year as conductor. He also directs the Lincoln and Beebe Jr. High School Bands and assists Dr. Silberman with the band.

The versatile Malden High School Orchestra practices its delightful music every day during the first period. Consisting of thirty-six members, the Orchestra is under the patient direction of Mr. Henry Carrai, who is completing his first year as conductor of the organization.

Beginning by entertaining at a political rally in October, the Orchestra played at the Parents Night Assembly, performed during the intermission at "The Mousetrap," and accompanied the Choral Art Society, Schubert, and MacDowell at the annual Christmas Assembly. It also participated at "Manhattan Melody," the Memorial Day Assembly, and was featured at the Annual Spring Concert.

For the first time in the history of the high school, the Orchestra presented its own concert. The president of the Orchestra, Peter Batting, welcomed the audience and introduced Adita Vasquez, who served as the Mistress of Ceremonies. Featured in the program were pianist Frank Aranson, playing "Malaguena," and trumpeters Wayne Crow and Stephen Hall, who presented "Trumpeters' Lullaby." Other selections included a Schubert minuet, the final movement from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, and the highlights from the score of "West Side Story." This assembly will be presented annually as a part of our regular assembly schedule.

PETER BATTING, President of the orchestra, welcomed the Sophomore Class to the First Annual Orchestra Assembly Concert on February 1 in the Jenkins Auditorium.

THREE BLAZING TRUMPETS resound as Wayne Crowe, Steve Mal, and Richard DiBella add to the harmony.

Groups Present Two Christmas Concerts

AND 21st IN THE JENKINS AUDITORIUM TO USHER IN THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

The Choral Art Society, MacDowell and Schubert clubs under Mr. Love's direction and accompanied by the orchestra under Mr. Carrara's direction presented for the first time two Christmas assemblies, because the enrollment reached an all time high of almost two thousand pupils.

On December 20, the first assembly held for the sophomore class featured Joyce Hutchinson singing "O Holy Night." For the second assembly, for the junior and senior classes Donald Saxe from the the Bretton Woods Boys' Choir, sang "Cantique de Noel" in which the choral groups joined for the chorus. Stephen MacDonald, president of Choral Art was Master of Ceremonies and Theresa Albergo read the Christmas Story. Ann Marie Eira sang the popular "White Christmas" and Peter Kussel played "Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire" on the alto saxophone.

Both assemblies were brought to a close with the student body rising to join with the choral groups in the traditional singing of the magnificent "Hallelujah Chorus."

Churches, and Clubs

With a Song In My Heart" could well be the motto of any of the forty members of one of Malden High's most outstanding organizations the Choral Art Society. Under the superb direction of Robert K. Love, and with the able assistance of Stephen MacDonald, president; Harry Taylor, manager; Theresa Albergo, secretary and Ronnilee Dondera, librarian; the club serves the community as well as the school.

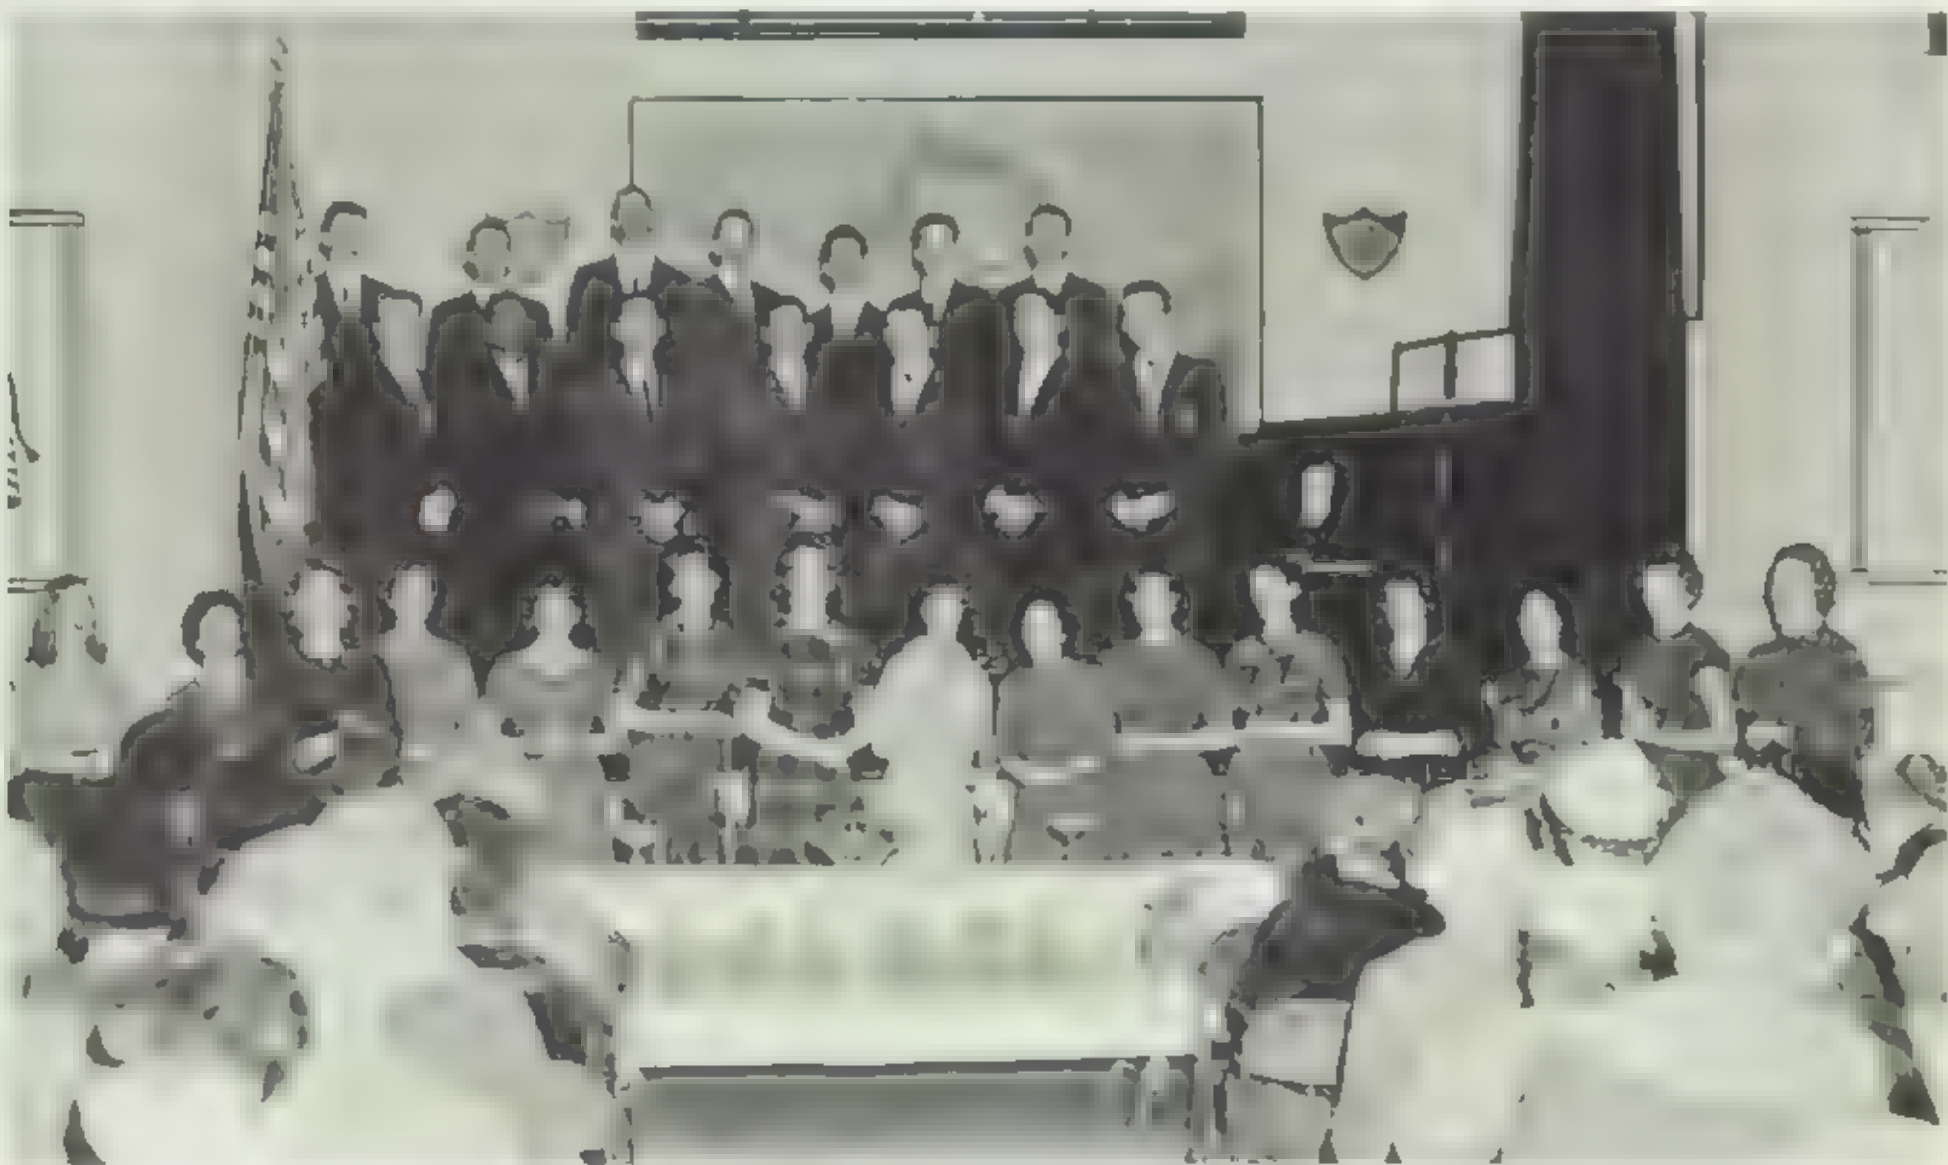

They sang at both of the Christmas Assemblies this year and during an "S" period before vacation, they toured the corridors singing A Cappella Christmas carols. Also in December, the Society sang for Old and New at Legion Hall and the Rotary at the Kernwood. Before the end of the school year, they sang during the intermission at Junior Varieties, performed at the Memorial Day Assembly, and gave concerts for all three junior highs.

In the Music Room every Thursday and Friday "S" period as they practice for their many concerts, the glee club serenades the second floor homerooms with the melodic strains of their music. Their most important appearance was the Annual Spring Concert, to which the students and faculty as well as the Choral Society, look forward.

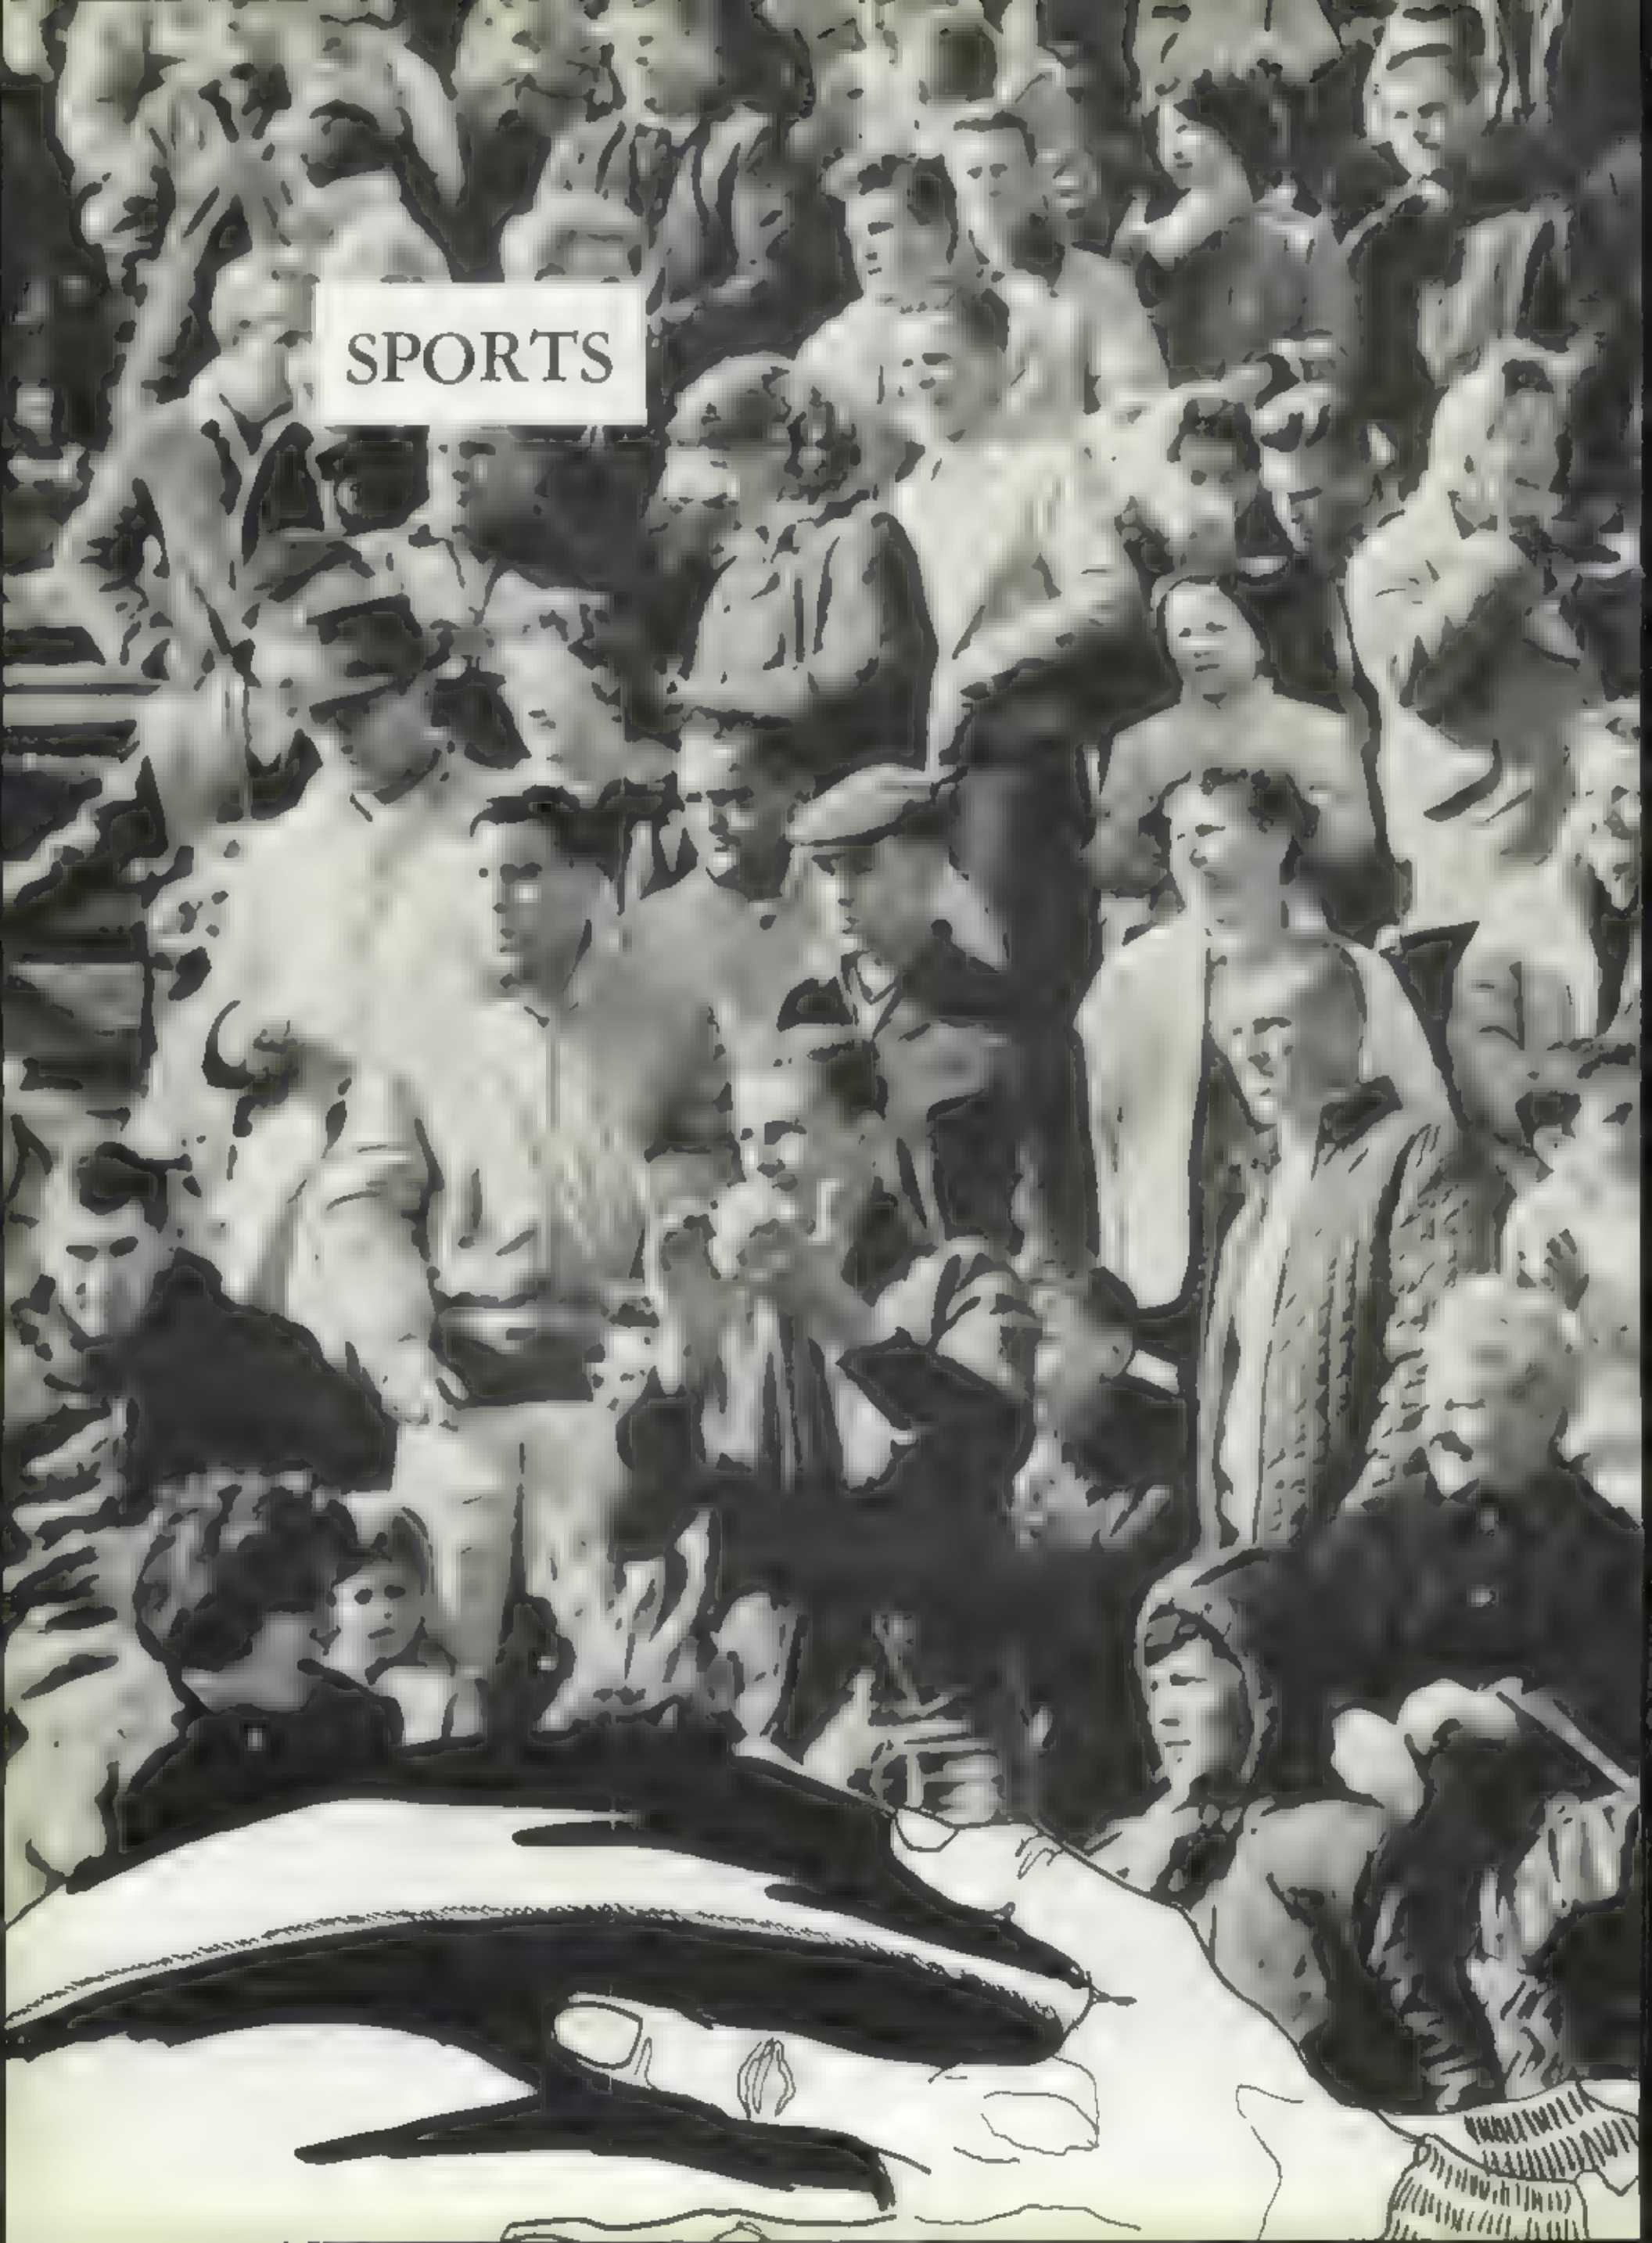

MR. ROBERT K. LOVE, teacher of Music Appreciation, and Elementary Music Theory, and capable director of Choral Art, MacDowell and Schubert Clubs.

OLD AND NEW was entertained by Choral Art with a medley of Christmas carols on December 18 at Legion Hall.

FULLBACK GEORGE SCIMONE (28) breaks through a hole in the Waltham defensive line to race 68 yards for Malden's fourth TD of the game. Malden, lead by Bill Gouvalaris, made 6 touchdowns to defeat Waltham 38-14.

The Melansonmen

Despite muddy fields, caused by heavy rains, the Golden Tornadoes, displaying a strong offensive thrust, still managed to win four games, while losing four and tying one. The team, under Coach Melanson and Assistant Coaches Jack Hussey and John Meschino, was co-captained by end William Carty and center Joseph Santagate.

At Pearl Street Stadium for the first game, Malden romped to a 38-14 win over Waltham. QB Dickie Harris performed at his best, when he threw touchdown passes to Carty and HB Bill Gouvalaris, who scored twice more. Other touchdowns were registered by FB George Scimone and HB Ron Fales.

Playing the makeup of their second postponed game, still explosive Malden bombed Mt. Pleasant, R.I., by a score of 34-0. End Angel Torres started the scoring when he blocked a kick, then fell on it in the end zone for a touchdown. Also scoring for Malden were HB Paul Miller and the three Bills: Carty, Gouvalaris, and Perry.

The following week at Quincy, Malden prevailed 14-8. Sophomore Ron Fales scored the first Malden touchdown. Tackle Wilfred Blais set up the winning score by recovering a fumble on the Quincy 35 yard line. With less than five minutes to play, B. Perry scored the winning touchdown. Traveling to Watertown, Malden suffered its first loss, 19-0.

Returning to their home field, they regained their winning way by subduing Chelsea, 28-0. George Scimone, with a six yard run, scored the only touchdown in the first half, but in the second half, Malden came on strong, with Perry scoring on a four yard plunge, HB Arthur Nigro scoring on a 12 yard run, and substitute QB John Salmon throwing a 24 yard touchdown pass to end Doug Wortman.

"HOLD THAT LINE!" advises Assistant Coach Meschino to guard George Daumani at the crucial point of the Mt. Pleasant game.

When the basketball season commenced, the Junior Varsity assembled under Coach Jack Hussey as probably the most inexperienced group of basketball players under the Malden High colors. This team, after losing the first three games, bounced back with the vigor and enthusiasm to win eleven of the next fifteen games. Badly trounced by Quincy in the opening game they later defeated this same team by sixteen points. The outstanding hustle and desire of these players helped them make the season a winning and successful one. Paul Finn, with an average of 19.5 points per game, was the sparkplug, the driving force behind a great team effort. Phil Scibelli also helped offensively with a 13.7 point average. Walt Jackson, Marv Rubenstein, Dick Geldridge, and Kevin Sullivan did yeoman duties on the boards, while Peter Sherbertes, John DiScullo, and Mike Repucci handled the playmaking operations well.

These athletes had a certain resolution to succeed — call it desire, hustle, determination or what you will — but it was there, and it will definitely play a major role in the success of the varsity in the years to come.

Tournaments are over and the basketball season has ended. We at Malden High School are very proud of the fine performance given by our basketball team during this season. Not favored to win 50% of their games, the Gales qualified for the Tech Tourney only to be eliminated by champion Rindge Tech. The Golden Gales completed their season with fifteen wins and six losses. In the first Tech Tourney game, the Boylemen handed Somerville its worst defeat in years. They defeated Coyle but were eliminated by Rindge.

High scorer for the team this year was Captain Bill Carty. The 6' 5" center scored 397 points for an average of 19 points a game. Guard Ralph Dunlea hit for 298 points; averaging 14.2. These two seniors will be sorely missed next year but the Tornado has the returning nucleus for an excellent team. Junior Angel Torres tallied 297 points; averaging 13 a game.

Hampered by a foot injury during the football season, Rod Forbes played his best ball in the Tourney. Dave Barris, a clever ball handler sparked the club throughout the season. Ira Mahakian, averaged seven points a game and played steady defense. Help will come from the Junior Varsity. Paul Finn led the team in scoring all year, breaking the record for the J.V.'s with a 19 point average. Phil Scibelli will contribute much to the Malden attack next year.

M.H.S. Track Teams Have Successful Season in Indoor,

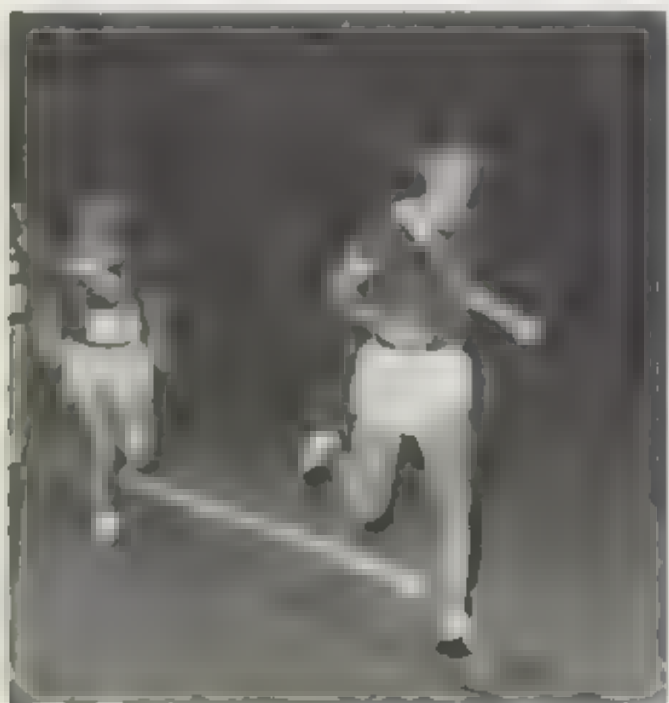

INDOOR TRACK LETTERMEN, who took part in all seven meets, include Front Row: S. Cox, Mgr.; S. Murphy, H. Person, C. Desmond, W. Funicella, R. Capone, Co-capt; C.

Hugo and W. Meehan, Asst. Mgr. Back Row: Coach Wettergreen, R. Wallace, W. Agnoletti, J. Taylor, O. Knight, R. Bruen, D. Bryan, F. Smith, Co-capt, and Coach Winerman

Despite the loss of both captains, the M.H.S. indoor runners stuck together to finish their season with two wins and five defeats. Although it was not a successful season, many runners turned in very good performances. Sophomore Bob Bruen followed through his cross-country performances by winning several mile runs. After the loss of captain Charles Hugo, due to illness, in the 600, Don Murphy came up with point saving runs and kept M.H.S.'s power in the 600 yard run. Other very good performances were those turned in by Joe Santagate and Steve Zimbone in the 1,000 yard run and Owen Knight and Charles Desmond in the 300

AS A TASTE OF VICTORY the MHS trackmen tear down the dummy from the Medford stands after beating Medford 40-34 in a close meet at the East Newton St Armory in South Boston LEADING THE WAY TO VICTORY in Medford meet, Steve Zimbone places 2nd in the 1000 yard run.

LEAPING FOR HEIGHTS in the high jump is Bob Messenger, placing first in the Waltham

Second In Met League,

Goldenrods Are Invited

The Malden High Hockey Team, coached by Mr. Charles McGeoch and co-captained by Ralph Kenty and Bruce Scally, finished an unexpected second in the Metropolitan Hockey League with a 9-2-3 record and earned a berth in the State Hockey Tourney.

The Goldenrods started the season off by becoming the only team to tie first-place Revere (12-0-1). The great team effort displayed by the McGeochmen during the whole season can be exemplified by the February 19 North Quincy game in which five goals were scored by five different players. Through the goals of Joe Teta, "Jake" McGrath, Charles Hanifon, Dave Panarella, John Salmon, and the excellent defense of Bruce Scally, Malden defeated North Quincy 5-1.

Having won or tied more than seventy-five percent of their league games, Malden was invited to the State Hockey Tourney. In the opening round, Malden had to face an undefeated Walpole team. Although Scally, Kenty, and McGrath were at their best, the Goldenrods were defeated 3-0 by, later State Champion, Walpole High.

The Golden Tresses, advised by Miss Virginia Gardner, were only able to get in four games this season. Three of the seven scheduled games were rained out. The field hockey team was at a great disadvantage, having only one senior and the rest all sophomores. This caused the team to lose all of its games to other teams which were more experienced. Although they lost these games, the girls' spirits remained undaunted and they are looking forward to a good season next year. Field hockey letters were given out to the following girls: senior, Esther Colecchia, captain; sophomores, Noreen Bishop, Joyce Dahlberg, Betsy Downing, Margaret Giniyan, Patricia Hugo, Mary Giuffre, Dorothy McHugh, Madeline Mulasky, Lorraine Nanfria, Sandra Nelson, Dorothy Fitzpatrick and Mary Ann Puleo, Manager.

Under the management of Marsha Schultz and Paula Molinari, with Esther Colecchia as captain, the girls' varsity and junior varsity basketball teams played through the season with wins outnumbering losses. Advised by Miss Thelma Martel, the teams practiced diligently every Tuesday afternoon in the Marshall Gymnasium. Out of eight, the varsity team won six games; one over Winthrop, two over Revere, two over Woburn, and one over Wakefield, and lost two games, one to Melrose and one to Wakefield. High scorers and outstanding players were Barbara Tomasello, who scored 94 points, and Diane Moccio, who scored 64 points. The junior varsity team won three games, one over Melrose and two over Revere; lost four, one to Winthrop, two to Wakefield, one to Woburn, and tied one with Woburn. High scorers were Susan Thomas, who scored 26 points and Nancy MacKinnon with 21 points.

Rifle Club Wins Middlesex Scholastic Rifle League

The Malden High School Rifle Club, organized in 1926 over the years has provided a healthy haven of recreation for countless boys and girls during and beyond their high school life. Equipped with a five point modern rifle range, play and study area, the club sponsors a program of safety and skill in the use of fire arms. It also provides the opportunity for students to participate in a clean competitive sport.

Both the boys and girls rifle clubs are used as a proving ground for skilled marksmen; and it is from this group each year that a varsity rifle team is selected to represent Malden High School in interscholastic rifle competition. In many instances this has been a mixed team including both boys and girls; also every non-team member is recognized by a suitable award for his or her achievement in shooting through a qualification course of national significance.

The varsity rifle team won the 1963 Middlesex Scholastic Rifle League Championship for the second consecutive year, establishing an over all record of six championship titles in nine years of League competition. In addition, two varsity team members Peter Benedek and Ruth Durkee placed third and fourth for trophy awards, firing high scores in the league season over one hundred competitors. Ruth Durkee also fired an all time individual record score of 194-200 and has been selected as a member of the "All Star Rifle Team" to compete at Northeastern University.

Under the direction of Lieutenant George Buckley and Assistant Director John J. Murphy, this division of the Malden Police Juvenile Department holds meetings every Tuesday night in different school auditoriums. Organized in 1945, their main purpose is to be of benefit to the boys of Malden between the ages of 10 and 16. Their program varies from basketball on Saturday mornings in the Marshall Gym to swimming at the Malden Y.M.C.A. One can always find them at track practicing their different skills so that they can be top contenders for the Legion Road Race.

A Telephone job offers . . .

A TELEPHONE JOB

OFFERS BOTH CAREER

AND SOCIAL SATISFACTION

WITHOUT BREAKING STRIDE,

why not graduate from high school to the Telephone Company? You'll love the friendly young people who'll work with you, and the many social activities that make your work so pleasant and rewarding.

OPPORTUNITY IS EXCELLENT

and your ability will be recognized. Your starting salary should climb with regular increases. And, of course, Company benefits, security, and regular advancement are well-known reasons why working for the Telephone Company is so attractive to graduates.

TELEPHONE JOBS ARE IMPORTANT,

vital to the effective communications of the community, the nation, and the world. When you take your place as a respected member of the telephone community, we'll train you, on full salary, even without previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

To Those Who Helped Our Roots To Grow

From these roots, nourished by our teachers and fellow students, the 1963 Maldonian has grown. First sown last June, the year book has been cultivated, sprouting in December, and finally coming to a full bloom in June. Innumerable people aided in the reaping of the yearbook. To all those, without whose help the 1963 Maldonian would not have grown so high in quality, we shout a hearty THANK YOU!

OUR SPECIAL THANKS to those who helped bring about a recognition of our scholastically high students. Here the highest ranking students of the three top homerooms proudly look over the honor rolls

From These Roots . . . The Maldonian of 1963.

To Rose,
 A wonderful
 person to know.
 never forget me from miss Pearl's good
 it, wonderful.
 good luck,
 Always,
 Christine

To Rose
 a cute girl with an even better smile.
 always remember the
 fun trip in Malakian.
 Remember to stay as sweet as you are. You will be a queen.
 To Rose
 may you always be as sweet as you've always been.
 Janet

To Rose,
 I rather not, but I will. Oh! you are just the greatest.
 Best of luck
 Love,
 Joanne

To Rose,
 A wonderful girl with a personality to match.
 Remember the fun we had in history & the kookie sph behind us Good luck in everything you do.

Rose,
 Remember all the fun we had in English and Maldonian. I wish you all the happiness in everything you do.

P.S. How could you forget me! Huh!

Dear Rose,
 Did you notice what a fine advertising section it is? I'll always remember your funny imitations of Miss Fetter and Miss Haskel and always love Miss Haskel.
 She's so understanding (he)
 Good luck in your Senior year,

To Dad
I've had such a blast with you & history. I really love
you. This kid really was his neck. I hope to get to know you even better. Love, Susan
